Ike Campaigns In California

Survivors Of Ditched Plane Receive Welcome Home

Happy Bedlam Greets Arrival Of Rescue Ship

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 19 (AP)—A crushing, happy bedlam welcomed today the 31 men, women and infants who waited through nearly five tense, prayerful hours before the mid-Pacific ditching of their plane and the swift safe rescue of all aboard.

The 24 passengers and seven crew members stepped off the rescue ship, the Coast Guard cutter Pontchartrain, into joyful embraces of wives, husbands and families crowding the dock.

When there was a chance in the crush of welcome, they told of calmness . . . of prayer . . .and of a sure faith in survival and rescue last Tuesday, some 1,000 miles out in the Pacific.

"We had plenty of time to think and pray," said Mrs. Louise Walker of Oakland.

Talked And Prayed

"We talked and prayed," said Mrs. Richard Gordon, of Silver Spring, Md., who came down the gangplank carrying Maureen, one her twin 2-year-old daughters.

On the "terrible" ditching impact, Mrs. Gordon said, Maureen flew out of her arms "like a football." Maureen hit her head on a bulkhead of the Pan American Stratocruiser, but was not badly hurt.

Richard Gordon, able safely to hold their other daughter, Elizabeth, said he felt convinced from the very start of the waiting that they "would come out of it."

Mrs. Walker said she, too, felt this sure faith. Very soon after Capt. Richard Ogg, of Saratoga, Calif., told the passengers "an ocean ditching was indicated," flares from the Pontchartrain streaked up into the sky.

"We knew the Coast Guard was there, ready, just like Capt. Ogg said," Mrs. Walker related.

Ogg said he had given the passengers the full story of their plight without delay. Two of the plane's four engines had quit.

"Ditching is likely," Ogg told them. "But we have everything under control, and you will be all right if you follow instructions."

Followed Instructions

Follow instructions is what the passengers did superbly, said Navy Cmdr. Kenneth D. Strickler, of Piedmont, Calif.

"The passengers behaved just like they were trained by the Navy and the Coast Guard," Strickler said. "They were the greatest set of people I've ever seen in an emergency."

Until he stabilized the plane at about 2,000 feet over the cutter, Ogg said he did not know how much time would have to prepare for ditching.

He decided first to wait for daylight. He waited then another hour to burn off fuel. Ogg said he had decided against dumping gasoline because the lowered dump chutes might cause trouble on ditching impact.

In the last hour of readying for ditching, Ogg said he got "too busy to think about anythine else."

G. L. Haaker, of San Mateo, the first officer, suggested Ogg let the passengers get up from their seats, walk around and smoke.

Jordan Backed In Demand For U.N. Action

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y., Oct. 19 (AP)—Britain, the Soviet Union and Iran gave full sympathy to Jordan today after Jordan demanded that the U.N. halt "unprovoked Israeli aggression" along their tense border.

The Big Powers and Iran told the U.N. Security Council it must act to stop the continued deterioration in relations between Jordan and Israel. They did not say, however, how far they would go in support of a Jordanian demand for the Council to order penalties such as economic restrictions and severance of diplomatic relations.

Ambassador Abdul Monem Rifa'i of Jordan told the Council Jordan will take matters into its own hands if the U.N. cannot succeed. He spoke nearly an hour to support his charge that Israel has conducted "acts of aggression" against Jordan. More than 100 persons have been killed in recent fighting along the Israeli-Jordan border.

Meanwhile, dispatches from the Jordanian sector of Jerusalem quoted Maj. Gen. E.L.M. Burns, U.N. truck supervisor, as saying there may be a major flareup in Palestine. Burns said in an interview the situation is worse than at any time since he arrived there two years ago.

This was Jordan's day in the Council. Israel will present its case next week, perhaps Thursday, after its delegate, Abba Eban, returns from consultations in Jerusalem.

Famed Composer Of Old Time Hit Songs Succumbs

HOLLYWOOD, Fla., Oct. 19 (AP)—The composer of the oldtime hit songs "It Had to be You" and "I'll See You in my Dreams" died today.

Isham Jones, 63, bandleader and composer of some 200 other songs, died early today at his residence. He had been ill of cancer about nine months.

Jones, who moved here from Los Angeles about a year ago, was one of the top bandleaders in the 1920s and 1930s. A native of Saginaw, Mich., he retired from show business 18 years ago but continued to write songs.

The widow and a son survive. Funeral arrangements are not complete.

Three Students Killed In Fire

MOSCOW, Idaho, Oct. 19 (AP)—Three students died in an explosive fire at a University of Idaho dormitory early today and university officials called it arson and murder.

Gov. Robert Smylie pledged "every effort to catch the criminal responsible."

At least eight other residents of Gault Hall, a new $500,000 dormitory housing 130 men, were burned. Three of them were being treated at a hospital.

It was the fourth blaze in a campus dormitory in a week. Two of the others, in Willis Sweet and Chrisman halls for men, were listed as arson. Wads of partly burned newspapers were found stuffed into davenports and magazine racks at both dormitories.

Killed in the fire were Paul Johnson of Davenport, Wash.; John Kudson, Idaho Falls, and Clair Schuldberg, Terreton, Idaho.

Johnson, a sophomore, was found in a shower room. A towel was wrapped about his head—a pathetic last effort to keep away smoke. Death was attributed to suffocation. The other two, both freshmen, were found in a charred hallway on the fourth floor. There were indications they had tried to break a window to get out.

Flyers Land In Wrong Field

PHOENIX, Ariz., Oct. 19 (AP)—Two flying businessmen got a little confused and landed at a livestock yard instead of Phoenix Sky Harbor Airport last night.

The result: One dead cow, one dead pigeon, one demolished plane and two slightly injured flyers.

There were about 35 cows in the vicinity when the plane sailed into the Tovrea Cattle Co. feeding pen, carrying William C. Cunningham, 49, of Vashon, Wash., and Glen Price, 58, of Burton, Wash. Price was the pilot.

Cunningham said they thought the double row of lights running along the sides of the pens marked one of the airport's runways.

Presley Acquitted, Two Foes Fined For Assault

MEMPHIS, Oct. 19 (AP) — Rock 'n' roll singer Elvis Presley, who won a clear-cut decision in a fist fight yesterday, got the judge's nod in court today.

Assault and battery and disorderly conduct charges against the teen-agers' idol were dismissed. His two opponents were fined.

Service station manager Ed Hopper—42, 5 feet 10, 175 pounds—who caught a Presley—21, 6 feet 1, 185—right cross on the left eye, was fined $25.

Hopper's eye was swollen almost shut, the left side of his face was puffed, and bandages covered a half-inch gash above the eye. Officers testified Hopper struck Presley first, then pulled a pocket knife after the singer swung.

Station attendant Aubrey Brown—21, 6 feet 4, 220—who also took a swing at Presley, was fined $15. The singer ducked Brown's punch and countered with a glancing right.

The brief scuffle was touched off when Hopper became angry because a crowd attracted by Elvis and his $10,000 Continental Mark II automobile was blocking his station pumps.

Acting City Judge San Friedman's decision clearing Presley was received with applause by the courtroom jammed with adults and a sprinkling of teen-agers.

Friedman took a dim view of the outburst, saying sternly: "This is a court, not a show."

Soviet Bosses Pay Unexpected Poland Visit

By COLIN FROST

WARSAW, Poland, Oct. 19 (AP)—Nikita S. Khrushchev and a trio of top-ranking Soviet army leaders arrived suddenly and unheralded in Warsaw today in utmost secrecy, apparently to apply brakes to Poland's headlong advance toward independent Communism.

There was no official announcement of the Soviet Communist party boss' arrival, but authoritative sources said he was driven in from a military airport just as the Polish Communist Central committee was restoring once-condemned and jailed Titoists to power.

The re-emergencey of men like Wladislaw Gomulka, symbol of national communism in Poland, was a direct threat to Konstantin Rokossovsky, the Polish-born Soviet marshal installed by Stalin as Polish defense minister. Rokossovsky may be toppled from his post.

The arrival of Khrushchev is said to have angered Gomulka, who was described as viewing the Soviet visit at this moment—with the Polish party under great public pressure to show its independence—a highly tactless maneuver.

Accompanying Khrushchev, authoritative reports said, were Marshal Georgi Zhukov, the Soviet defense minister and a close friend of Rokossovsky; Marshal Ivan S. Konev, supreme commander of the Warsaw Pact military organization tieing Communist armies to the Soviet army; and Gen. A. I. Antonov, secretary general of the Warsaw pact. Their presence would seem to indicate military considerations played a part in the surprise visit.

The Polish Workers—Communist—party Central Committee, many of its members in a mood to declare independence from the Soviet party, had just restored Gomulka in triumph to the Central Committee when a long line of cars was seen driving into the city.

The cars drove straight to the meeting, a session which could have a profound impact throughout Eastern Europe and the Communist States now strongly tied to Moscow. Khrushchev is reported to have taken part in the session.

There have been many indications that the Soviet leaders are concerned over the speed of "de-Stalinzation" in Poland, which might carry the country and its party much farther toward independence than the Kremlin intended earlier this year in approving the doctrine of "manys ways to socialism." Communist doctrine holds that socialism must precede the "building of communism."

Hall Charged By Demos In Shakedown

Say GOP Chairman Should Be Jailed For Part In Deal

WASHINGTON, Oct. 19 (AP)—Rep. Reuss (D-Wis) said today Republican National Chairman Leonard W. Hall should be jailed for what Reuss called a "true political shakedown" in the award of a big government contract in 1954.

A member of a House Government Operations subcommittee, Reuss leveled the charge at the windup of Democratic-run hearings on a 43-million-dollar contract award in 1954 for expansion of the government nickel plant at Nicaro, Cuba.

Hall was invited to testify but did not attend, citing the pressure of campaign business.

Hall did issue this statement after Reuss made his charges:

This Is Open Season

"This is open season on political campaign chairmen. I have told the House Government Operations subcommittee that I will be glad to appear before it any time after Election Day. The only thing developed by two days of hearings has been some cowardly and untrue statements made by Rep. Ruess of Wisconsin.

"Mr. Reuss will eventually eat every word he has said and this entire proceedings will be known for what it is—a pre-election political stunt."

Reuss spoke after Edmund F. Mansure, former head of the General Services Administration, testified Hall opposed giving the nickel plant contract to any company politically tied in with past Democratic administrations.

Other evidence shows, Reuss said, that officials of the Frederick Snare Corp., which got half the big contract, later put $7,500 into Republican congressional campaign coffers—more than 10 times the amount they had averaged in the previous seven election years.

Refers To Testimony

Referring to testimony by a former Snare vice president, Randall Cremer, who sought Hall's backing for the contract, Reuss said, "without contradiction there has been nothing less than a true political shakedown by Republican National Chairman Leonard Hall."

Cremer has said that Hall spoke to him "of the importance of electing a Republican Congress." Cremer said he assured Hall "we expect to continue our support." Cremer said, however, it was not felt that the $7,500 contributions made by Snare officials were a "condition" of the award.

Reuss cited a law providing for fines up to $5,000 or imprisonment up to 10 years for soliciting a contribution in connection with a government contract.

Canal Users Elect Dane

LONDON, Oct. 19 (AP)—The Suez Canal Users' Assn., announced tonight it had appointed Eyvind Bartels, Danish consul general in New York, as its administrator.

The 15-nation group, spearhead of the West in seeking international control of the disputed waterway, announced in a brief communique it also had opened two banking accounts—one for administrative purposes and one into which all nations may pay tolls for their ships passing through the canal.

In New York, Bartels called the post "a tremendous challenge but one I will do my utmost to fulfill with satisfaction to all."

Bartels, 40, is expected to come to London to take up his duties with the SCUA Council. Until a final decision on the headquarters location is taken the Council will function in London.

The SCUA countries aim to press Egyptian President Nasser into cooperating with them to put the Suez Canal under international control.

Egypt demands that ships of all nations pay toll to her nationally-owned Suez Canal Co., but so far has let ships through even though they paid tolls into blocked accounts of the old universal Suez Canal Co.

Sees Adlai Victory

SACRAMENTO, Calif., Oct. 19 (AP)—Harry Finks, an Eisenhower-pledged delegate to the 1956 Republican National Convention, today predicted Democrat Adlai Stevenson will carry California by at least 150,000 votes.

Adlai Claims GOP Hopelessly Divided In Nixon Attack

Says Republican Leaders Favor "Return To Yesterday" Program

LOUISVILLE, Ky., Oct. 19 (AP)—Adlai Stevenson pictured the Republican party today as "hopelessly divided" and told the voters of Kentucky, that a vote for President Eisenhower is a vote for Vice President Nixon.

The Democratic presidential nominee spoke at Lexington and later at Louisville in a drive to capture the "undecided vote" in this state and elsewhere. He plugged in particular the two Democratic candidates for the Senate race in Kentucky next month.

In both speeches Stevenson described Nixon and other key members of the Eisenhower administration, as well as GOP congressional leaders, as men who favor a "return to yesterday."

At Louisville, in a prepared speech, he described Secretary of Agriculture Ezra Benson as "the number one enemy of the farmer," and went on to say:

We Have Choice

"We have a choice between a united party and a party that is so hopelessly divided that it cannot conduct a firm, consistent foreign policy. We have a choice between a united party and a party in which the President says he is going one way and his leaders in Congress insist on going another way."

Stevenson spoke in the Louisville Armory in contrast to his outdoor appearance at Lexington where rain fell on the candidate and the crowd of thousands. Stevenson finally got a little shelter when an aide held a woman's umbrella over his head as he talked.

There were several hundred vacant seats in the 7,300-seat armory at Louisville. About 400 persons stood on the canvas-covered ice rink of the arena rather than take distant balcony seats.

Jefferson County Democrats displayed signs saying "Let's All Switch to Stevenson," and "Nix on Ike." President Eisenhower carried Jefferson County, the state's most populous, by 18,000 votes four years ago.

As did the spectators in Lexington, the Louisville crowd booed the mention of Vice President Nixon's name.

The candidate paid tribute in both addresses to the late Sen. Alben W. Barkley, a Kentuckian, whose widow greeted Stevenson at the Lexington airport and went campaigning with him.

The Democratic nominee was scheduled for a speech in Cincinnati tonight.

Demos Are "War Party"

At Louisville, he said he has heard the Republicans are picturing the Democrats as the "war party" in the Kentucky campaign and said:

"We will cheapen our political debate, yes, and we will make infinitely harder the remaining job of winning the real peace, if we start playing politics with war and peace."

Moreover, Stevenson said, any man who talks about "a war party" and a "peace party" is unworthy of being a United States Senator.

In the wide-open Kentucky Senate race, incumbent Sen. Earle C. Clements, a Democrat, is pitted against Thruston B. Morton, a former assistant secretary of state. Former Democratic Gov. Lawrence W. Wetherby is opposed by the former ambassador to India, John Sherman Cooper, Republican, for the remaining four years of Barkley's term.

Cooper, speaking at Bowling Green last night, criticized his opponent for not telling "where (he) stands on the major problems before our nation."

Powell Secretary Convicted Of Tax Evasion Charges

NEW YORK, Oct. 19 (AP)—Acy Lennon, secretary to Rep. Adam Clayton Powell (D-NY), was convicted today on four counts of federal income tax evasion.

The federal court jury had deliberated nearly 25 hours.

He was the second aide of Powell to be found guilty on such charges this year. Mrs. Hattie Freeman Dodson, another secretary, began serving 7-month tax evasion sentence on July 16.

Lennon had been accused of misstating his income and claiming two fictitious sons as dependents for the six years from 1949 through 1954.

Japan, Moscow End State Of War With Pact

By ROY ESSOYAN

MOSCOW, Oct. 19 (AP)—Japan and the Soviet Union signed a declaration today to end their 11-year state of war and agreed upon a formula to boost trade between the two countries.

Russia promised to support Japan's application for membership in the United Nations, gave a conditional pledge to return tiny Habomai and Shikotan islands and agreed to resumption of diplomatic relations.

In a trade protocol, each side granted the other most-favored-nation treatment. Under that formula each will give the other as good treatment as it gives any nation in customs duties and regulations governing exports and imports.

Izvestia, the Soviet government newspaper, said a five-year plan had been drawn up for an exchange of 76 million dollars worth of goods, a 30-fold increase, in the first year, and 320 million dollars worth the following year.

Izvestia said this would greatly ease Japan's economic difficulties. I. attributed these to a "policy of embargo" under American leadership and said this embargo policy cut across Japan's "traditional commercial ties with the Soviet Union, China and East European countries."

The end-the-war declaration — a peace treaty—was signed in the Kremlin by Premier Nikolai Bulganin and Foreign Minister Dmitri Shepilov and by Japanese Premier Ichiro Hatoyama and Agriculture Minister Ichiro Kono after 16 months of negotiations.

Crippled and ailing 73-year-old Premier Hatoyama, who came here a week ago to wind up the negotiations, hailed the ceremony as putting a "happy end" to his campaign pledge last year to restore diplomatic relations between Russia and Japan.

Speaking to more than 1,000 Soviet and military officials and the entire diplomatic corps crowding the glittering banquet hall, Bulganin said he was sure the end of the state of war would serve "the interests of our two peoples, the interests of peace and security in the Far East and the whole world."

President Accuses Foe Of "Folly"

Doesn't Believe Any Campaign Justifies Common Sense Loss

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 19 (AP) — President Eisenhower tonight accused Adlai Stevenson of "speaking incredible folly" in saying the military draft is an "incredible waste" of manpower and money.

In a speech prepared for delivery in the Hollywood Bowl, Eisenhower said:

"I do not believe that any political campaign justifies the declaration of a moratorium on common sense.

"We might afford to be tolerant—in an amused way—of the current effort to sell senseless economic panaceas in a political bargain basement."

But, Eisenhower said, "We cannot be very tolerant of the sugestion that the peace of the world can be bought on the same terms and at the same counter.

Incredible Waste

"And the man who today dismisses our military draft as 'an incredible waste' is a man speaking incredible folly."

Stevenson made the statement last night in a speech at Youngstown, Ohio.

At the same time, Eisenhower hit out at a charge by Stevenson that the Eisenhower administration had been marked from the start by the "contagion of corruption."

"I scorn this preposterous accusation—and I condemn it as false—because it is a baseless insult to the many men and women associated with me in public service today, whom I know and trust.

"They are men and women who—above and beyond all partisan differences—command the respect of the leadership of both parties in our Congress, and the entire American people.

"I say nothing of myself. I am glad to await—with confidence—your judgment upon such charges next Nov. 6."

Anti-Demo Epithets

Once again, Eisenhower's speech was sprinkled liberally with anti-Democratic epithets.

He used such phrases as these:

"Politicians who achieve the heights either of comedy or bewilderment. . ."

"The biggest and most flamboyant three-for-one sale in recent American politics."

"They confuse, I believe, public leadership with public noise."

Eisenhower said that he and the Democrats differ even on the definition of leadership itself.

"They, I believe, tend to confuse the thumping of the tub with the voice of the future," the President said. "And—at their most eloquent—they offer phrases, or promises, that please the ear—but disappoint the intelligence."

Stevenson has accused Eisenhower of rejecting the positive responsibility of leadership.

Eisenhower replied:

"We believe that leadership is truly tested not by words but by deeds. We believe that it can be most effective when it wastes the least time in public self-condemnation. And we are sure that this

Scots To Back Hemingway For Rector Without Funds

GLASGOW, Scotland, Oct. 19 (AP)—The Scots supporters of Ernest Hemingway for lord rector of Glasgow University agreed enthusiastically today to raise no money to back the American novelist's campaign.

"No slush fund," said the student newspaper, Independent, "even if we knew what it meant."

The student body will elect a lord rector in a campuswide vote Monday. Other candidates include Earl Attlee, former Labor prime minister, and R. A. Butler, lord privy seal in the present Conservative government.

Hemingway raised the slush fund issue in a letter to his supporters, which the Independent front-paged in today's issue. It said:

"Since my past experience is limited to having refused to run for alderman in the 19th Ward in Chicago at the conclusion of the 1914-18 War—the man who accepted the nomination, Tony Andrea, was shot shortly afterwards—and to contributing to the election of a sheriff in a Florida city, I an unfamiliar with the legal dimensions of your campaign.

"In the campaign for sheriff, some $7,500 was advanced, mostly by the owners of gaming establishments. After the election the sheriff, being uncooperative, closed down the establishments and it eventually became necessary to close down the sheriff himself.

"As I understand it, we have no gaming establishments, so I am still without a precedent.

"Recently my dear friend, Averell Harriman, who I believe to be eminently unsuited to be president of the United States, was accused of having spent two million dollars in his unsuccessful campaign for the Democratic nomination.

"This is the type of campaign, if the accusation be founded, that your candidate deplores—we must have no slush fund.

"Please do not push the campaign to such an end that we might all end in Warmwood Scrubs (one of London's biggest prisons).

"Yours faithfully,

"Ernest Hemingway, Honorary Game Warden, Kenya."

Lord rector is an honorary office at Scottish universities and is often given to men of achievement in politics and literature. It is a nonpaying job, the term 12 months.

7th Victim Of Flash Fire Dies Of Burns

HERRIN, Ill., Oct. 19 (AP)—Seven persons were dead today of the lethal effects of a propane gas flash fire that seared an entire neighborhood as if a giant blowtorch had been turned on it.

Six others were seriously burned in the fire and explosions last night that destroyed a gas bottling plant warehouse, five homes, three trucks and two automobiles.

Three of the victims died today of the effects of extensive burns.

Neighborhood residents, unaware of their peril, were watching workers trying to shut off a leaking line from a gas delivery truck when the gas was ignited, apparently from an open flame in a nearby home. The foglike gas had spread knee deep through the area.

Then one of the homes exploded.

"The blast flashed back through the gas in a depression to the truck, and the area was one big fire," said Harry Forbes, who was among firemen who reached the scene before the blast.

"People ran out of the area, screaming and with their hair and clothing in flames. The heat was intense. It was a terrible scene."

The dead included Oscar Williams, 38, his wife, Violet, 33, their son, Freddie, 3; Mrs. Elizabeth Kerley, 62, mother of Mrs. Williams; and her husband, Fred Kerley, 62. Other victims were Robert Lee Keller, 5, and Charlotte Jarvis, 11.

The giant sheet of flame touched off 50 small tanks in the gas plant warehouse, from which cooking gas is distributed from this southern Illinois town of 10,000 about 110 miles southeast of St. Louis.

Robert Long had just walked away from the Williams' yard after advising Mrs. Williams to take her child in the house because of the choking fumes. Rocked by the blast, he turned to see Freddie blown from the mother's arms.

"She started to run across the garden, blazing like a torch," Long said.

Mrs. Caralee Coulson, sister of Mrs. Kerley, ran to assist them. "Little Freddie Williams ran to me, and I pulled off his burning clothing," Mrs. Coulson said. "Even his shoes were on fire."

Fifteen doctors attending a conference in Herrin helped treat the injured, who had third-degree burns over 40 to 90 per cent of their bodies. Blood plasma was brought in from nearby towns.

The Red Cross declared the stricken neighborhood a disaster area.

Six neighboring communities sent fire - fighters. They played streams of water on a nearby oil storage plant containing 80,000 gallons of gasoline and diesel oil.

Henry Scheffler, 50, operator of the propane plant, summoned firemen when workers were unable to halt the leaking gas. They had left the truck just before the explosion and escaped serious injury although Scheffler was treated for shock.

Dr. Eisenhower Meets Students

BALTIMORE, Oct. 19 (AP)—President Milton Eisenhower of Johns Hopkins University told the students and faculty today his posts as adviser to President Eisenhower and special envoy to Latin America would not detract from his work at Hopkins.

It was Dr. Eisenhower's first meeting with the entire student body since he took over recently as Hopkins president.

The former head of Penn State and brother of the president said flatly he has no political aspirations.

"If I had had I would not have left Pennsylvania," he told the audience, which put numerous questions to him.

He aid he hoped Hopkins growth would be in "new areas of scholarship" rather than in size.

Dr. Eisenhower was presented with a Johns Hopkins blazer and promptly put it on.

He received a standing ovation as the meeting concluded.

Nixon Hurls Challenge To Stevenson

BALTIMORE, Oct. 19 (AP)—Vice President Richard M. Nixon tonight challenged Adlai Stevenson to submit to "open press conference" questioning on his draft and H-bomb views.

Nixon's prepared talk was the last of a 10,000-mile campaign swing during which he repeatedly accused Stevenson of irresponsibility and lack of judgment. Tonight he said the Democratic presidential nominee had shown "new inconsistencies" in each speech and statement made on the two big defense issues.

And Nixon said Stevenson "has refused to permit the press to examine him on the draft, the H-bomb and other questionable issues he has raised during this campaign." The vice president said he and President Eisenhower both had opened their view to newsmen's questions at conferences.

"I, therefore, challenge him—Stevenson—in the interest of clarifying these matters. . . to call an open press conference at which he can be cross-examined by the men and women whose professional duty it is to keep our country informed," Nixon said.

"If a man's views are so unsound and unsure that he is unable to defend and explain them in a free American press conference, he raises a grave question as to whether he is capable of being president of the United States."

Stevenson has urged that consideration be given to ending the draft as soon as national security permits. He has said that if he is elected president he will give top priority to negotiations for worldwide agreement to stop testing H-bombs. He said last night these questions should be decided by all the people, not only one president or general.

Nixon said, "If we abandon our H-bomb tests without the ironclad inspection safeguards which President Eisenhower has demanded, we will be doing exactly what (Soviet party leader Nikita) Khrushchev and (premier Nikolai) Bulganin want us to do."

And he said it is certain Eisenhower "would never be mousetrapped into joining any such absurd 'disarmament' scheme."

The Vice President was introduced by Gov. McKeldin who said it was to Nixon's credit that "the candidates of the opposition have singled him out for their most vicious attacks.

"The other main targets of the opposition's meandering attack are the vast defense establishment of the United States in weapons and personnel, by which peace is maintained in the world, and the great and growing industrial plant of America under our system of free enterprise."

President Accuses

kind of leadership calls for a certain balance of qualifications.

"Boldness alone is not enough—for this is no time in the world's history for action without reflection.

"Unrealistic theorizing is not enough—for this is surely on time for leaders of elaborate indecision."

Eisenhower then listed what he called the "sweeping differences . . . of clear conflicts between us on most critical matters of principle and policy."

In this state with its 32 electoral votes—only New York has more—Eisenhower pointed out specificslly where he thinks his leadership differs from that proposed by the Democrats.

Fearful And Hesitant

1. "They are fearful and hesitant about the capacity of our free economy to provide jobs for all."

But, said Eisenhower, "We believe quite differently. We have faith in the ability of free Americans to provide jobs for one another—rather than relying on the government to do it for them."

2. "They, despite their protestations, must have little faith in labor—for they seem to put little trust in the free processes of collective bargaining."

The GOP, he said, has the "confidence that they lack." And he again said he thinks organized labor has grown to its highest peak under his administration.

3. "They . . . tend to meet every problem with an exclusively federal solution, a new federal law, or tax, or agency."

Eisenhower said the Republicans are aware of federal responsibility, "but we are equally aware that such federal action must never undermine state and local responsibility and initiative."

Motorist Hurt When Car Hits Cow On Highway

HAGERSTOWN, Oct. 19 (AP) — Jerry N. Paxson, 29, of Hagerstown was injured seriously today when his car struck a cow north of town, careened 500 feet and struck a pole.

The collision occurred on U.S. 11 about two miles north of Hagerstown. The impact of the car against the pole caused a short circuit, igniting the pole. The car was demolished.

Paxson suffered a fractured skull and other injuries.

What puzzled State troopers was the presence of two dead cows on the road, when Paxson's car apparently struck only one. Police reason that the second cow had been struck by another car that had not stopped or reported the accident.

Ike Suffers Eye Injury

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 19 (AP)—President Eisenhower has suffered what his doctor today termed "a slight hemorrhage" of the left eye as a result of a couple of scraps of campaign confetti lodging there.

Maj. Gen. Howard M. Snyder, the White House physician, told newsmen he removed the confetti from the President's eye in Portland, Ore., last night.

Referring to the eye, which was bloodshot today, Snyder said:

"It is getting better, but he will still have a red eye when he gets into Washington tomorrow."

The confetti got into Eisenhower's eye yesterday afternoon while he was motorcading through Portland.

James C. Hagerty, White House press secretary, first reported the episode just as Eisenhower was about to leave the airport here this morning after arriving from Portland for a campaign address tonight in Hollywood Bowl.

Hagerty called newsmen's attention to the President's bloodshot eye. They had not noticed it, either here or when he left Portland.

If the eye was causing Eisenhower any distress, he gave no outward sign of it.

He was smiling broadly as he stepped from his plane, and was in a jovial mood as he spoke informally at the airport to several thousand workers from the Lockheed aircraft plant.

Happy Bedlam

ing run a daybreak, took a grateful, relaxing break.

Despite two postponements in the ditching run, "the time passed rather quickly, surprising as that may seem," said Mrs. Gordon.

There were the instructions on how to ride into the ditch landing, with arms clasped under the legs and heads cushioned against the seats.

Ogg, Haaker, and Patricia Reynolds, San Mateo, Calif., the purser, moved up and down the cabin at times, answering questions.

"We practiced the ditching procedure and we drank coffee," Strickler said.

Ogg ordered the cabin's rear section cleared of passengers. The Gordons and their two daughters were moved from these rear seats.

On ditching impact, the whirling left propeller dipped into the swell, jolting the big craft to the left. The tail section snapped off "just like a whip," said Don Vogel, fireman aboard the Pontchartrain.

One life raft was caught between the broken tail and the main cabin. Mrs. Gordon and her children had to scramble from this into a second raft.

Pontchartrain crewmen said one side of the crowded raft didn't inflate properly. It shipped water. Mrs. Walker said she was immersed to the chest.

Ogg made a last check through the cabin to make sure no one was left. Strickland, who Ogg said, "was more than helpful in helping get the passengers off," stayed at the hatch until Ogg came off his ship.

Bulganin Sends New Message To Eisenhower

WASHINGTON, Oct. 19 (AP)—Soviet Premier Bulganin sent a new message to President Eisenhower today. The subject matter was not made public immediately.

The message was delivered to Secretary of State Dulles by Andrei M. Ledovski, Soviet Embassy counselor.

State Department press officer Lincoln White said he did not know the subject of the message. It was the latest in a year-long series of exchanges between the Soviet and American leaders.

Previous letters in the series have dealt with the general subject of disarmament, including problems of bringing what President Eisenhower has called "the nuclear threat" under control.

Dulles told Ledovski the text of t note would be translated from Russian to English and presented to Eisenhower after his return here Sunday.

There was immediate speculation in diplomatic quarters here that the message might have some bearing on the problem of trying to call off the testing of nuclear weapons. This subject has become the center of nationwide debate between Eisenhower and his Democratic opponent for president, Adlai E. Stevenson.

As recently as last Wednesday, Arkady A. Sobolev, Soviet delegate to the United Nations, said Russia is ready to agree with the United States and Great Britain on an immediate, unconditional halt of test explosions of nuclear weapons.

Stevenson has been calling for the United States to take the lead in trying to halt H-bomb tests. Eisenhower has stood firm on the position of his administration that the calling off of tests should be accomplished as part of a broad-scale program of arms control, complete with iron-clad inspection procedures.

Construction Worker Killed By Grader

CHEWSVILLE, Md., Oct. 19 (AP) —A construction employe was killed today while working on the Chewsville Pike, about one mile east of the Washington County town.

Another worker, William Adams of Middletown, told state police that James Leroy Shank, 23, of Burkittsville, Frederick County, was operating a grader, rounding off shoulders of the road under construction.

Adams said the right front wheel of the grader came off, throwing Shank to the ground. The grader continued to roll far enough to pin Shank under its double rear wheels, crushing his chest.

Transit Contract Talks Break Off

WASHINGTON, Oct. 19 (AP)—Negotiations between D. C. Transit System and the Transit Workers Union over a new labor-management contract broke down temporarily today.

Walter J. Bierwagen, union president, described the negotiations as "deadlocked" and added:

"The issues between us are so far apart that at the moment there seems to be an insurmountable gulf."

The Federal Mediation and Conciliation Service continued efforts to bring about a settlement. James A. Holden, federal mediator, arranged for a resumption of bargaining sessions for Monday.

The union seeks an increase of 25 cents an hour over the present base pay of $2.05.

The present contract expires Oct. 31.

Nine Officers Subdue Berserk Man In Fight

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla., Oct. 19 (AP)—A 245-pound man, held for the grand jury today in the fatal stabbing of his wife and two children, fought nine officers for 30 minutes today before they subdued him.

James G. Burmeister burst violently from his usual calm when officers prepared to take him from city jail to the county jail at Clearwater. He had been quiet since his arrest Wednesday and throughout a preliminary hearing today, which resulted in the order to transfer him to county jail to await action of the grand jury.

Awakened from a nap, he offered no resistance when he was handcuffed to two officers, one for each wrist. When they tried to take him to a patrol car, he began to fight.

It took nine policemen half an hour to get him down, put on two sets of cuffs, leg irons and leather straps around his legs, arms and waist.

He had pleaded innocent at the hearing.

"In the name of the Lord it is the truth I'm not guilty," Burmeister told Magistrate Clyde M. Kissinger.

"I hope the world will end tonight if I am," Burmeister continued, holding his right hand in the air and his left over his heart.

The power company lineman, who stands 6 feet 2 and weighs 245 pounds, also told of seeing "white hooded men lurking around my house."

But he had nothing to say when Patrolman Robert Stokes testified Burmeister opened the door to him Wednesday morning and said, "I just killed my wife and two children."

Stokes was called to the Burmeister home by neighbors who heard Mrs. Burmeister screaming for help.

Dr. E. R. Koontz, county medical examiner, testified there were 93 stab wounds from a Marine combat knife in the bodies of Mrs. Burmeister, 32, James Jr., 3, and Marilyn, 9 months.

Burmeister, 28, had been under psychiatric treatment for several months.

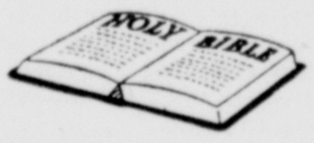
No. It's just a rope . . . at the breaking point. But, frankly, it's a good illustration of how a man feels when his nerves are "worn to a frazzle."

The Church has never claimed that religion is a cure for frazzled nerves. But a man's Christian faith does this for him:

It shows him a Purpose in life more important than mere existence. It shows him a Power more effective than his own strength. It shows him a Future more rewarding than selfish gain. And it gives him courage more lasting than the sheer force of his human will.

With these spiritual resources, founded in the certainty that God understands and helps, a man never reaches "the breaking point." For when his human reserve is exhausted . . . he has only begun to tap the vast reservoir of Divine Strength.

THE CHURCH OF YOUR CHOICE CAN SHOW YOU THE WAY!



THE CHURCH FOR ALL . . . ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

Railway Tax Appeal Case Set Nov. 12

W.Md. Challenges 15 Million-Dollar State Assessment

CHARLESTON, W. Va., Oct. 19 (AP)—Hearing of Western Maryland Railway's appeal from its 1956 state public utility tax assessment gets under way Nov. 12 in Mineral County Circuit Court at Keyser.

The Attorney General's office here said that a case involving the Board of Public Works would follow on the heels of the 1955 action.

Attorneys plan to use the record made in the 1955 case, updated as necessary, in the hearing involving the 1956 figures in an effort to expedite the litigation.

Western Maryland's 1955 appeal is from a valuation of 13 million dollars, for tax purposes, placed by the Board of Public Works on its Classes III and IV, or tangible, properties for that year.

The board assessment for 1956 was 15 million dollars, and the company promptly filed another appeal although the 1955 case still was pending.

The railroad has gone to court three previous times since the early 1940's in a running assessment controversy with the state.

Three times it has won reductions of Board of Public Works figures at the circuit court level. One reduction was upheld by the Supreme Court, but in a 1954 case a board figure of $11,250,000 in effect was sustained.

Proposed W.Va. Amendments Outlined By R. S. Dispanet

MOOREFIELD — Raymond S. Dispanet, Hardy County Superintendent of Free Schools, addressed the Moorefield Lions Club on the three proposed constitutional amendments to be voted on by West Virginians in the general election next month.

Dispanet discussed the "Jury Service for Women Amendment" and said that under present laws women, felons and idiots are barred from jury service. The proposed amendment would permit women "to be eligible to serve as petit jurors, both civil and criminal cases, as grand jurors and as coroners jurors." Only four states now prevent women from serving as jurors. Dispanet said that women make good jurors in other states.

In his discussion of the proposed "Korean Veterans Bonus Amendment", Dispanet pointed out that the passage of the amendment will enable veterans of the Korean War to receive a bonus from existing bonds authorized for a bonus payment to veterans of World War II.

Most of his discussion was devoted to the proposed "Taxation and Finance Amendment" which permits a liberalization of the tax levy to meet emergency conditions if 60 per cent of the voters in the county approve. He pointed out that the passage of the amendment "does not raise money, does not raise taxes, but permits a county to raise taxes by issuing bonds".

Dispanet went on to say that individual counties would be enabled to raise necessary funds without raising taxes elsewhere. He said that 80 per cent of the money from schools in Hardy County comes from the state and that it was only fair that Hardy County should enable the larger and wealthier counties to raise more funds at their own local level.

Dispanet reiterated that Hardy County's approval of the proposed amendment could not raise taxes in the county until another election was held and 60 per cent of the county voters approved.

During the business session of the club meeting a report was made on the bankruptcy of the Moorefield Plywood Corporation Moorefield business men signed a note in the amount of $20,000 to lend the corporation operating capital. Under the terms of the new note the endorsers became directly liable as principals instead of endorsers to the plywood note.

Charles Bean, presiding in the absence of William C. Clark, announced a ladies night on November 5 at the Petersburg Lions Club.

VA Clarifies War Orphans Education Aid

The government's new school program for sons and daughters of deceased war veterans is limited to "young adults" generally between the ages of 18 and 23, and not to younger children. W. L. Limburg, manager of the Veterans Administration Regional Office in Baltimore, has informed the local contact office.

His explanation follows a number of inquiries by mothers of pre-teen-agers, who want to know if the program applies to them. It does not under the law, VA explains. The program is intended for "higher" education and does not affect dependents until they are 18.

The War Orphans Education program is for sons and daughters of World War I, World War II and Korea veterans who died of service-connected injuries or diseases. Eligible young men and women may receive government allowances of $110 a month while in school or college.

It may be possible for a young person to start school before age 18, Limburg said. Conditions are that (1) he has quit or been graduated from high school; (2) he is above the age of compulsory school attendance, and (3) VA finds it would be in his best interest to start his training before turning 18.

It also may be possible to remain in school under the program after age 23. These are the conditions:

1. If the person passed his 18th birthday, but not his 23d, when the law went into effect on June 29, 1956, he may attend school until June 29, 1961.
2. If he was eligible for schooling, but entered military service before age 23, he will have five years from date of discharge in which to attend school.
3. If the veteran-parent dies after the son or daughter is 18 but not yet 23, the person has five years from the date of death of the parent.

In no event, however, may a student attend school for more than 36 months, the maximum allowed by the law. Also, schooling under the War Orphans program may not continue beyond the young man or woman's 31st birthday.

There are about 15 million more motor vehicles on American highways than just before World War II. Seventy out of every 100 persons driving cars have bought them within the past two years.

Area Church Choir Plans Program

Schedule Of B&O Trains Changes On October 28

The nationwide return to Standard Time at 2 a. m. Sunday, October 28, will find a new time schedule in effect for railroad travelers.

Although most of Maryland and a large portion of the nation "turned the clock back" on September 30, many of the large cities remained on Daylight Saving Time for another month. This was particularly true for the larger cities on the East Coast, with the exception of Baltimore.

Allegheny Airlines based its new flight schedule on Standard Time on October 1. Departure time for west and northbound flights is 9:02 a. m. daily, while east and southbound flights leave here at 10:13 a. m.

The Blue Ridge Bus Line remained on Standard Time through the summer months, consequently no changes are necessary in its schedule.

The Baltimore and Ohio Railroad Company has announced the following changes in the schedule of westbound trains through Cumberland, effective October 28 and all on Standard Time:

Train No. 21, the B&O's new "Daylight Speedliner" will make its first stop here at 1:12 p. m. and depart three minutes later; Train No. 17 is scheduled in at 1:18 a. m. and will leave at 1:33 a. m.; Train No. 7 is due in at 2:32 a. m. for a five-minute layover before departure.

Train No. 9 will arrive here at 5:05 p. m. and leave at 5:15 p. m.; Train No. 5, the Capitol Limited, departs at 8:30 p. m.; Trains No. 19 and 25 will arrive at 8:40 p. m., departing at 8:45 p. m.

All the above runs will be made over the Pittsburgh Division.

A westbound train through to Keyser and Grafton is due in Cumberland at 11:37 a. m. (Train No. 11) and scheduled to leave at 11:47. This train will arrive in Keyser at 12:19 p. m. The only other westbound train over this section of the B&O's lines through Cumberland is Train No. 23 which is scheduled to arrive here at 1:18 a. m., leave at 1:40 a. m. and arrive at Keyser at 2:12 a. m.

Other westbound trains which arrive at Keyser but do not come through Cumberland, are Train No. 3, which is scheduled to arrive at 12:45 a. m., and Train No. 1, which is due there at 9:55 p. m.

Eastbound trains due here over the Pittsburgh Division are:

Train No. 10 which will arrive here at 2:45 a. m. and leave five minutes later; Train No. 18, due in at 4:20 a. m. and scheduled to depart at 4:28 a. m.; Trains 20 and 26, both due in at 5:21 a. m. and both scheduled to depart five minutes later.

Train No. 8 is to pull in here at 1:10 p. m., and depart at 1:15 p. m.; Train No. 22, the eastbound "Daylight Speedliner," will arrive at 3 p. m. and leave three minutes later, and Train No. 6 is to arrive here at 5:36 a. m. and leave at 5:41 p. m.

Due in here from Keyser and points west are Train No. 24, which will arrive in Keyser at 2:38 a. m. and is due here at 3:20 a. m.; Train No. 12, due in at Keyser at 7:12 p. m. and due here at 7:45 p. m. from where it will leave for other eastern cities at 7:50 p. m. Train No. 30 calls for arrival at Keyser at 11:25 a. m. and is due in here at noon.

Train No. 2 and Train No. 4 travel through Keyser to Washington but do not come through Cumberland. The former is due at Keyser at 3:45 a. m., and the latter at 8:43 a. m.

Navy Offers NROTC Tests To Area Men

The Navy will conduct competitive examinations for the Navy's Reserve Officer Training Corps December 8 in a local high school, according to an announcement received at the local Navy recruiting station. The school is to be designated later.

Vice Adm. James A. Halloway Jr., chief of naval personnel, said in the announcement that this 11th annual national exam is open to interested high school seniors.

Designed to supplement the officer output of the Naval Academy, the NROTC program makes it possible for a young man to earn a commission while studying at the civilian college of his choice which has an NROTC unit. All tuition, fees and books are furnished by the Navy, and the student receives an annual retainer of $600 for four years.

During the summers the student goes on training cruises as a midshipman. After completing the usual four-year college course, he is commissioned in the Regular Navy or Marine Corps and goes on active duty.

For those who apply and qualify, immediate assignment to flight training is available.

High school seniors and graduates between the ages of 17 and 21 may apply for the NROTC aptitude test. Those who make a qualifying score will be given a physical exam early in 1957. From the pool of qualified young men remaining in competition, approximately 2,000 will be selected to begin their naval careers next September.

The NROTC college training program is also open to enlisted men on active duty with the Navy and Marine Corps. Separate quotas are established for applicants from within these services.

Application forms are available at all high schools, colleges, Navy recruiting stations or from the Chief of Naval Personnel, Washington 25, D. C.

A New Development In Cancer Research

A noted physician-researcher has told a medical audience in London that some persons are immune to cancer. The authority is Dr. Cornelius P. Rhoads, director of the Sloan-Kettering Institute for Cancer Research in New York City. The persons he told about were some convicts who had permitted cancer cells to be planted in their bodies.

In cancer-bearing volunteers the transplanted cells "grew well"—but in healthy subjects they produced "a most vigorous inflammatory reaction." This had the effect of rejecting and killing the bad cells.

How come? Well, Dr. Rhoads, whatever his part in this study, is not the kind of man who would ever claim undue credit for any such discovery. For years the Sloan-Kettering Institute and its top researchers have been experimenting with bodily fluids in the hope that in that realm the key to cancer might be found. Dr. Rhoads is reasonably certain, now, that the difference between cancer cells and normal cells is in their nucleic acids. Chemotherapy is the specialized approach that may someday bring cures not attainable now.

Perhaps some day a person's cells can be tested to see if their chemistry is cancer-resistant or cancer-prone. If the latter, perhaps their characteristic acids can be turned, medically, into healthy, more normal make-up.

Cancer takes so many forms in various parts of the body, male and female, that any expectation for a one-shot miracle cure or preventive is hardly sanguine. But wouldn't it be a grand and glorious feeling for a person to know it if he were in fact not a possible host to a cancer cell? A lucky, grateful person like that might feel a special urge to give all the money he could to cancer research for the benefit of people less magnificently fortunate.

These Days

Was The GOP Saved?

A political party which is only one man is no longer a political party. Without any criticism of the President, it is a truism that the Republican Party existed before President Eisenhower was born; it may not continue after he ceases to be President, just as the Whig Party died in the United States or as the Liberal Party has become moribund in Great Britain.

What Paul Hoffman has tried to prove in an article which appears in a fortnightly magazine is that there is no Republican Party except in the personality of Dwight D. Eisenhower. It is a dangerous article to publish at this particular moment because it gives the impression, were it not known to be otherwise, that the author desires Eisenhower to be defeated by reading out of the party several million loyal Republicans who have faithfully stood by it while other Republicans were basking in New Deal patronage and honors.

Hoffman, who managed to get a $15,000,000 Fund for the Republic donation from the Ford Foundation, in effect, reads out of the Party some of its most important Senators, who are the Republicans to organize the Senate after the 1956 election, and who would preside over committees with which the White House would have to deal. He says that there are two splinter groups in the Republican Party. One consists of Senator Joe McCarthy, Senator William Jenner, Senator Herman Welker and Senator George Malone. This group he calls the "unappeasables." Each has been elected by the people of his state, whereas Paul Hoffman holds no position in the Republican Party and has never been elected to any public position.

The second splinter group he regards as "faint hopes," meaning that they might be brought around to abject obedience to the White House. This consists of Senator Henry Dworshak, Senator Andrew Schoeppel and Senator Barry Goldwater. Selected as the decoy for them is Senator William F. Knowland who, according to Hoffman, has had differences with the White House on such questions as our China policy but such differences are "in the process of resolution," a phrase which stultifies Knowland and gives the impression that in some manner he has been bought off—an obvious impossibility both as to the buyer and seller.

Whatever inspired Hoffman to produce this article with these closing paragraphs is hard to understand:

"Given four more years of Eisenhower, his labors may achieve something unique in American politics, a party that is fundamentally pressure-proof; something profoundly superior to its great rival, the Democratic party, whose irreconcilable differences leave it permanently open to the pressure of contending narrow-interest groups.

"Second only to his labors for peace, the creation of this new party may go down as Eisenhower's greatest achievement."

If President Eisenhower is re-elected by a huge popular vote and he carries with him sufficient Senators and Representatives to give him a Republican Congress, there can be little question but that his authority will be paramount, but there will be no such "pressure-proof" as Hoffman forecasts, as this is a republic, not a despotism. If, on the other hand, the popular majority is narrow and the Congress remains Democratic, then he will have difficulties because this campaign has engendered much bitterness between Eisenhower and the Democrats and the attempt of his partisans to read six or eight Republican Senators out of the party. Each of these men serves in the Senate regardless of who sits in the White House and each can vote as he chooses. Eisenhower has already discovered the cost of pushing Wayne Morse out of the Republican Party.

The poor registration and the apathy of the voters would indicate that the people are not emotionally spirited over either Presidential candidate. Where there is any excitement, it is local; it is over a candidate for the Senate or a Governor. For instance, in Massachusetts, there is more interest over the gubernatorial election than over the Presidency and the Democrats are really excited over the possibility of Foster Furcolo being elected Governor. In New York State and in California, the Senatorial races have stimulated more interest than the Presidency. In Washington and Oregon, the Senatorial races are the works.

In this respect, 1956 differs from 1952 when Eisenhower waged a crusade and Stevenson shocked a nation by his intellectual brilliance. This year, they are just running against each other.

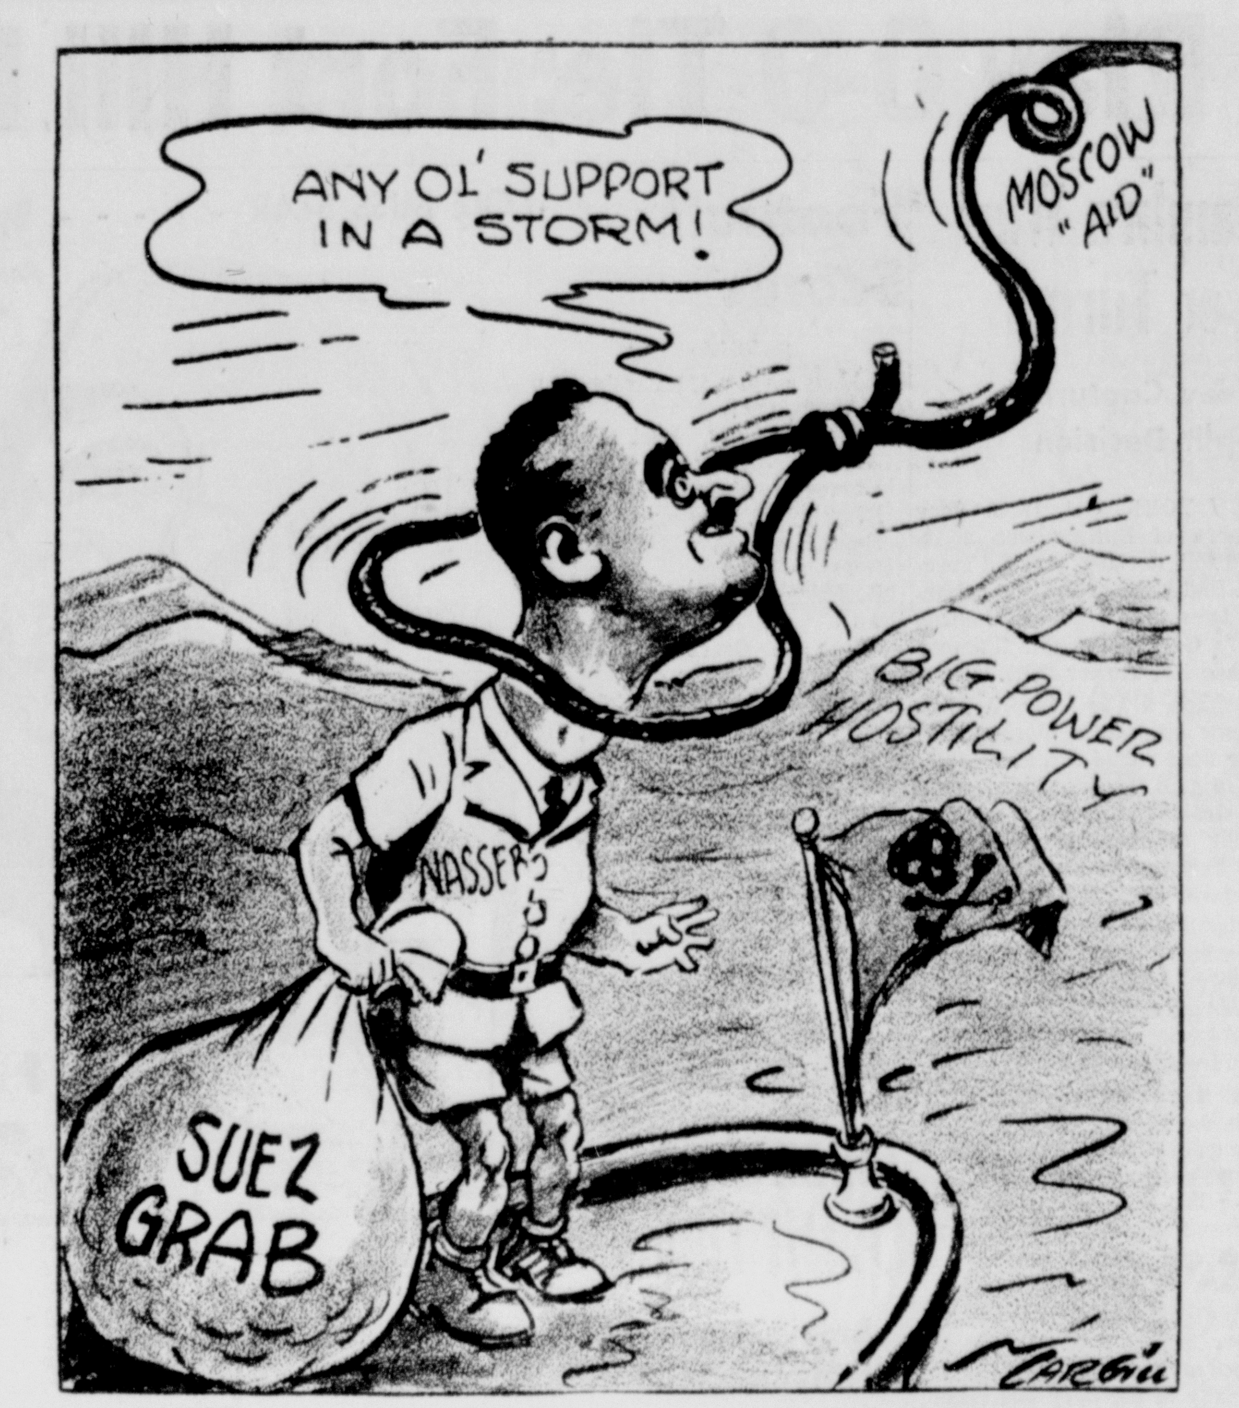
'Inbad' The Sailor



Saund-Odlum Campaign Is Most Unusual U. S. Congressional Race

By Drew Pearson

LOS ANGELES — In the entire length and breadth of the USA there is probably no more fascinating race for Congress than that between India-born Judge D. S. Saund and glamor millionairess-aviatrix-cold-cream manufacturer Jacqueline Cochran Odlum.

Down in California's Imperial Valley, which extends from near the sprawled-out suburbs of Los Angeles to the Mexican border, these two candidates, as unlike as any in the United States, are battling it out to see which shall represent California's 29th District.

Judge Saund, born of Sikh parents in the Punjab, came to the United States 35 years ago, won a Ph.D. in mathematics at the University of Southern California, became an American citizen after Congress passed a law permitting the naturalization of Hindus.

Despite this late start in citizenship, his neighbors elected him a local judge, and more recently he defeated Carl Kegley in the Democratic primary for Congress. It was a primary in which Kegley raked up enough money from various sources to run full-page ads attacking Judge Saund — some of the ads in such bad taste that newspapers refused to use them. Judge Saund spent little money, won easily.

Jackie Cochran, in contrast, spent more money in her Republican primary than any of the 72 other California candidates for Congress — recorded $58,000.

Running against five Republicans, Jackie barely nosed out her chief opponent, Fred Eldridge, by 1,500 in a race so full of smears that Eldridge's campaign manager is now supporting Judge Saund.

Rags To Riches

Today Jackie flits around the cotton and date ranches of Southern California piloting her own Lockheed Lodestar, shaking some 40,000 hands, and changing her clothes three and four times a day in the sweaty heat of the Imperial Valley.

Though Jackie now lives in one of the swankiest ranch houses in Southern California and is married to Floyd Odlun, with his Atlas Corporation millions, she was born with no silver spoon in her mouth. Like Judge Saund, she came up the hard way.

An orphan, she worked in a Pensacola, Fla., beauty shop, dated naval fliers, learned about flying, organized the World War II Wasps and got stung by some of her own girl fliers, but became the darling of brass-hat bosses of the air corps. Since the war, the late Gen. Hoyt Vandenberg, Air Force Chief of Staff, entrusted Jackie with the job of sprucing up the supposedly sagging smartness of Air Force women.

Necessarily the candidate's husband, one of the wealthiest corporation manipulators in the business, has come into her political picture. To some extent he is running too — inevitable when Jackie's activities have been so intermixed with her husband's.

It was partly through Jackie and the Air Force brass that Odlum and his Consolidated Vultee copped off one of the biggest Air Force contracts, notably that for the B-36. It was the Navy's opposition to the B-36 and the rumpus raised by Adm. Arthur Radford, who at that time did not believe in inter-service harmony, which caused a Congressional probe of the B-36 and Secretary Stuart Symington's friendship with Mr. and Mrs. Odlum.

Glittering Bandwagon

Celebrity-conscious Californians galore have climbed aboard Jackie's glittering bandwagon. Whether they will vote for her on November 6 remains a question. Many are delighted to shake her hand, but perhaps more are swayed by the plodding neighborliness of Judge Saund.

Many are also impressed with the argument of the Calexico Chronicle: "In all her twenty years in this district, Mrs. Odlum has never served on a school board or a city council. She knows the President. She knows more generals and admirals than you could shake a stick at . . . . but as a Representative in Congress, Mrs. Jacqueline Cochran Odlum looks very risky indeed."

Finally, there's a sort of latent pride even in Southern California, never celebrated for its race tolerance, that this is a country of free opportunity, where anyone, white or brown, not only can be an American citizen but can be elected to represent other American citizens in Washington.

There's also a feeling of "Let's show that fellow, Prime Minister Nehru in India, that we are not the bigoted country he says we are, that an Indian over here can do what no Ameircan could ever do in India."

It's this quiet sentiment which may defeat Jackie Odlum and all her millions and send India-born D. S. Saund to Congress.

Kefauver's TV Speech In Shocking Bad Taste

By David Lawrence

WASHINGTON — Senator Kefauver, Democratic Party nominee for the Vice Presidency, made on television Tuesday night the most shocking speech any man in public life has made in many decades — either within or outside a political campaign.

Not since the days of Senator Tom Heflin of Alabama, Democrat, perhaps the worst demagogue in the Senate, has anything so obviously unfair and in such bad taste — and in utter disregard of the rights of innocent persons — been presented to a public audience.

Senator Kefauver, who spoke under the auspices of the Stevenson-Kefauver Campaign Committee, quoted General Eisenhower as having said in the 1952 campaign "throw out the crooks and cronies." He then pointed to a film of Mr. Eisenhower making a promise to clean up the government and "bring integrity and thrift back to Washington." General Eisenhower, however, mentioned no names.

Since 1952, however, the chief of the Internal Revenue Service under the Truman Administration and a deputy commissioner and the heads of two district offices of internal revenue have gone to jail for accepting bribes or for cheating on their income taxes. Two Truman appointees — one of them the head of tax prosecutions in the Department of Justice — have been convicted of conspiracy to defraud the government. This is indeed "corruption."

Yet, immediately after referring to Mr. Eisenhower's 1952 speech, in which he had not assailed any man's reputation, Senator Kefauver said this:

"Under the Eisenhower-Nixon Administration, more heads of government agencies have been involved in corruption than under any administration since the Republican Administration of General U. S. Grant."

Had the Tennessee Senator stopped there, it would have been regarded as the usual exaggeration of a political speaker on the stump. But he didn't. He went on to show pictures of several public officials and named them one by one — just after he had made a blanket charge against them of involvement in corruption.

Now, the word "corruption" in the dictionary on this correspondent's desk is defined as "bribery" and "dishonesty" and anyone who is "corrupt" is defined as having been "influenced by bribes" and as being "dishonest."

After saying that the heads of government agencies in the Eisenhower Administration were "involved in corruption," Senator Kefauver specifically showed the pictures of Harold Talbott, former Secretary of the U. S. Air Force, Edmund Mansure of the General Services Administration, and Peter Strobel, Public Buildings Administrator. Then Mr. Kefauver went on to say:

"But these were not the big-time operators. Let me show you one of the most rotten deals in all American history—the Dixon-Yates deal. Here was an attempt by big businessmen, in and out of government, to milk an entire region of our nation. Here are some of the people involved."

Then Senator Kefauver pointed on the screen to the pictures of Adolphe Wenzell and George Woods — neither of whom was a government official — and of Joseph Dodge, former Director of the Budget; Sherman Adams, who is executive assistant to President Eisenhower, and finally to Attorney General Brownell. He then referred to the entire group as "these scoundrels."

Not one of these men whose pictures were shown — starting with Harold Talbott — violated any laws or have ever been indicted by any jury or brought into court. Certainly if they were personally "involved in corruption," there has been no evidence brought forth to sustain the charge which so many listeners heard, and millions of them probably believed they were looking at a gallery of "crooks."

The individual rights of innocent citizens are not dormant or lost to them just because the injury to their reputations is inflicted during a political campaign. Senators enjoy no legal immunity for speeches delivered off the floor of Congress.

Senator Kefauver also presented a film of General Eisenhower speaking in 1952 and promising tax reduction, if elected. Then immediately the Tennessee Senator showed a film of a 1956 press conference in which the President was saying he saw "so far, no logical reason for reducing taxes." But Mr. Eisenhower was talking about the 1956 session of Congress then going on, and taxes had already been reduced by his administration. Mr. Kefauver used the film of the 1956 Eisenhower press conference to emphasize the theme of "broken promises." The listener and viewer was left with the impression that the President as late as 1956 had broken his 1952 pledge.

A few seconds later Mr. Kefauver, on the other hand, did refer to a tax reduction by the present administration as "the most unfair in the history of our nation." He told his listeners it was discriminatory and that a citizen who earned $5,000 in wages had to pay $420 taxes, whereas an investor with a $5,000 income paid only $200. The Senator failed to enlighten the audience on the fact that the investor had already seen 52 per cent of his rightful earnings taxed away by the federal government before he received the dividend income on which he himself also pays taxes. And, besides, Mr. Kefauver's figures were wrong. The man with the dividend income would pay $322 in taxes — not $200.

The argument about taxes is a normal type of political bunkum, but the naming of individuals "involved in corruption" and flashing their pictures on the screen is something far more extreme. It is dangerous to the civil rights of individuals.

A composite picture used in a pamphlet in the Maryland Senatorial campaign in 1950 drew fire from so-called "liberals," and it will be interesting now to see how they react to the adroit use of the "guilt by association" technique with pictures on the television screen pointing the figure of suspicion to officials who have violated no law. Senator McCarthy in his most overzealous moments and Vice President Nixon in his most vehement and hard-hitting campaign speeches of 1954 never perpetrated anything like the speech delivered by Senator Kefauver on a nationwide television network this week.

On The Side

By E. V. Durling

THE HAGUE—Our horses and women department is constantly in receipt of complaints that too much space is devoted to women and too little to horses. Not wishing this European report to be subject to such a complaint I attended the races at the Duindigt track in the suburbs of The Hague. This is a beautiful mile and one half course on which both running and harness races are staged. The harness horses race on a special dirt track, the runners on a turf track. The day I attended there were six harness races and one running race.

DETAILS

The admission to Duindigt is about 78 cents for men and half that for women. There are no other charges. The course is very large and well kept but the stands are small. The pari-mutuel system of wagering prevails. Tickets are sold off a rack. Some of the mutuel clerks are women. The wagering unit is a little more than a guilder, about 30 cents. Betting only for straight and place. A special type of betting is called "the koppel." That's too complicated to explain. I decided to become a two and one half guilder bettor.

BREEDING

The harness horses were mostly of American ancestry. Such names as Hanover, Volo and Spencer were prominent in the breeding. The runners had good breeding lines, mostly British. There was no starting gate used. Was no race caller. Races were run in silence. The fans did no cheering. Not even at the finish. At the end of the race the winner was applauded with hand clapping.

New Blood

By Brother Barnabas

It has been said that when Napoleon rode upon the battlefield among his lagging soldiers he brought the equivalent of a reinforcement of 10,000 fighting men and snatched victory out of the jaws of defeat.

Napoleon met his Waterloo but there is enough tinder for other wars if some incident will apply the torch.

The best guarantee of peace among the nations is the United Nations, whose 11th anniversary will be next Wednesday. The President reminds us of the importance of maintaining this great arm of strength which began with 51 charter members and has grown to 76, with others waiting to be admitted.

Its growth and influence augur well for the fulfillment of the Biblical prophesy that is carved on the Plaza of the U. N. building in New York: They shall beat their swords into plowshares and their spears into pruning hooks; nation shall not lift up sword against nation, neither shall they learn war any more. (Micah).

Wants To Be Counted

This deponent would like to stand up and be counted among the 10,000.

War in one phase or other will always be with us. Christian doctrine enjoins it "Fight the good fight of faith." It is in our hymnody: "Onward, Christian soldiers! Marching as to war."

But nobody but a fiend would want a war that is "hell."

The roots of peace run deep into the soil of good will among men, regardless of race, creed, color or social stratification.

You might as well put a buzzard's egg under a turkey hen and expect her to hatch a doveling, as to look for a warless world whose inhabitants hate one another and are envious, suspicious, retaliative.

In the battle of life everyone now and then needs reinforcement, for our enthusiasm for good causes has a tendency to sag.

The dog that keeps barking at your heels and disturbing your peace of mind is a reinforcer. You throw him a bone, but he eats Russian caviar and broiled sweetbreads. Then you must learn a new dietary or get rid of the dog, for how can two walk together unless they have an appointment.

Better keep the dog regardless, for he is the only animal that thinks more of you than he does of himself, and we need a counterirritant to keep us aggressive against the evils we find in our world, such as unfair laws, racial discriminations, moral turpitude in families, to mention a few.

"The law locks up both man and woman
Who steals the goose from off the common,
But lets the greater felon
loose,
Who steals the common
from the goose."

It is trite to say that there will never be an honest horse race until there is an honest human race. It is just as true that there will never be a purified society till well-bred people carry on.

Grandparents To Blame

That takes us into the field of eugenics which is a special study with stockbreeders. Every one has a right to be well-born. If he is denied it his grandparents are to blame. It's in the blood, and blood is thicker than water.

Since the days of Aesculapius the blood has occupied a place in materia medica. The ancients located diseases in the blood, and so practiced blood-letting for all ailments.

Modern therapists set great store by blood pressures, blood tests, blood transfusions. I know a case where pemphigus was cured by transfusions.

We have a lot of reinforcers in the blood, red and white corpuscles, 170,000 to a drop. See to it that they take a bath and change their clothes every 22 seconds. They'll do it anyhow, but see that no enemy within your control impairs its functioning such as alcohol, nicotine or other depressant.

A subscriber writes in to our family relations department and says her husband was a confirmed smoker with a tobacco heart when she married him a year ago, but today he never touches the weed.

"Good," my secretary wrote back, "to break off a lifetime habit requires a strong will." "Well, that's what I've got," replied the wife.

Blood Will Tell

A man in distress called the trouble clerk about his wife's incessant talking. "She talks and talks all the time, even when we go to bed."

"What does she talk about?" "She doesn't say." "Why don't you turn the other ear?" "I do, but she is a ventriloquist and snores on both sides."

Blood will tell. A Scot went to a hospital to give blood to an ailing woman. The transfusion was successfully accomplished and the grateful woman sent the worthy Scot $50.

Sometime later the woman's physician found a second transfusion necessary and again the son of Scotia was called upon. Again he gave his good blood, and again he was rewarded, but this time with $25.

The third transfusion became necessary. Again the Scot responded. The transfusion was successfully accomplished.

But by that time the woman had so much Scotch blood in her veins that she wouldn't give him anything but a thank you.

Blood counts, says

Toxicologist Helpful In Convicting Poisoners

By Dr. Theodore R. Van Dellen

The clicking of glasses as a toast dates back to the era when political and personal enemies were liquidated by poisoning. At a party or dinner, each member of the group poured a little of his wine into the glass of his friends as a gesture of trust.

The Borgias and other poisoners got away with it not only because of their power but because there was no toxicologist to detect the presence of arsenic, mercury, or other lethal substance. This cowardly method of murder still is used but the guilty persons often are convicted with the aid of the toxicologist.

But poisoners are not always apprehended because the death of the victim is ascribed to natural causes. Dr. Henry M. Gewin of Mobile, Ala., believes fewer of these criminals would escape if physicians were more suspicious of foul play. He gives some examples.

He was called to see a 19-year-old newly married young man who was suffering from a perplexing illness consisting of mental changes, fever, headache, and delirium. A number of possibilities were investigated but the diagnosis remained in doubt until the patient's parents suggested that the boy's wife and mother-in-law were poisoning him.

The groom never had been ill before taking out a $6,000 life insurance policy, with his wife as beneficiary. The physician, acting on the tip, surprised the patient's bride and her mother trying to force some tablets down the throat of the semi-conscious young man.

The tablets proved to be mercury. BAL was given to counteract the effect of the poison and an uneventful recovery followed. His wife and mother left town.

This case was fresh in Dr. Gewin's mind when a 44-year-old woman developed a somewhat similar illness. Tests for mercury poisoning were positive. The toxicologist recalled that her husband had died four years earlier under mysterious circumstances. He was said to have had a stroke but when the body was exhumed, large quantities of mercury were found in the organs. The widow recovered after BAL was administered and a third person was convicted of the crime.

Another poisoner who finally was caught up with was the woman who had gone into the business wholesale. Before she was apprehended she had disposed of seven relatives and in-laws via arsenic. The first six deaths had been blamed on food poisoning or intestinal flu.

ID REACTION

W. J. writes: Can athlete's foot spread to other parts of the body?

REPLY

This is a rare occurrence, although other kinds of ringworm can infect different parts of the body. Now and then an allergic skin reaction (id) to ringworm of the foot develops elsewhere on the skin and will not disappear until the original athlete's foot is brought under control.

Try And Stop Me!

By Bennett Cerf

Harold Ross, founder of the New Yorker Magazine, was a perpetually inquisitive genius who "read the Encyclopedia Britannica for fun."

It was Ross who persuaded Raoul Fleishmann, banking millionaire, to invest an original $50,000 in the venture, and then pony up a cool half million more later. It was Ross too who got stars like Thurber, White, Benchley, and Dorothy Parker to contribute pieces for a fraction of what others would have paid them. "Hal" invented the "profile," too. The going rate was then $150 tops, for which the writer had to check and recheck his facts, and write and rewrite until Ross was satisfied. Nobody ever resigned.

London Punch sized up "Hal's" value to the New Yorker in one short sentence: "Ross was the only guy at the party."

An underdog Martinsburg High School team battled the Allegany High School Campers to a 0-0 deadlock in a CVAL contest last night at the local stadium before a crowd of about 3,000.

The Campers lost a scoring opportunity early in the first quarter after taking the opening kickoff and marching from their 40 to the Bulldog's 15 yard line before running out of gas there.

It looked as if the Alco team was going to march unstopped with Doug Walker making three first downs himself, the last one carrying down to the Martinsburg 22. The Bulldog line stiffened at this point and gave up only six yards, taking over on their 15 yard line.

The visitors moved up to their 42 but were forced to punt. Conley made a first down to his 40, but Adrian Knippenburg, a substitute halfback, was hit at the 33 on the next play and fumbled back to his 30 where Alger, right end for Martinsburg, recovered just before the opening period ended.

The Black and Orange with Dailey keeping got a first at the 16. The local team duplicated the Bulldogs' stand with Fred Tice and Carl Brown teaming up to throw Dailey for a seven yard loss as he went back to pass on fourth down at Alco's 20.

Battle In Midfield

The two teams battled back and forth in the middle of the field for most of the second quarter exchanging punts with Allegany having a first at their own 33 just before the half ended. Chet Payne's team went into a spread formation and quarterback Mike Lease began tossing. He hit Ken Johnson for 11 yards to move into enemy territory. Lease connected again to Lonnie Jackson for 22 more and hit Knippenburg for three yards at the 18 yard line of Martinsburg as the half ended.

The two teams exchanged fumbles after Allegany took the kickoff to open the third period. The Blue and White recovered at their 21, but a Lease pass was intercepted by center Clarke at his 39. Dailey began passing, hitting his end Alger at Allegany's 21 and he made it to the 11 before being hauled down. Dailey forced his passing luck and Ed Robinson of Allegany intercepted at his 11.

The visitors dominated play in the final period with the Blue and White only able to get off 10 plays. The Black and Orange were forced to punt from their 44 but Allegany couldn't get going and kicked back to the Bulldogs' 43 where Beaver returned it to the Alco's 43. Dailey carried for six straight plays down to the local's 31. With a fourth at the 28, Dailey had another pass intercepted by Gene Rexroad at the 22.

Alger Intercepts Pass

Allegany went back to their spread formation and opened up Martinsburg defense moving down to the visitors' 41. Lease tried to break the scoreless tie with his passing, but Alger intercepted for the Bulldogs at his 43 with only a minute and 20 seconds remaining in the game. John Cobourn's team ran out the clock using line plays seeming content to settle for a tie.

Senators Decide To Keep Franchise In Washington

Directors Oppose Move From Capital In 7-Hour Session

WASHINGTON, Oct. 19 (AP)—The Washington Senators decided today to stay in Washington.

Turning down bids from four cities for its American League baseball franchise, the Senators' board of directors, after a seven-hour meeting, voted unanimously to remain here.

The decision came as somewhat of a surprise to baseball followers here. All outward indications during the past few weeks were that Calvin Griffith, Washington club president, wanted to move, with Los Angeles apparently his choice. Louisville, San Francisco and Minneapolis also put in offers for the Senators.

The directors issued this statement:

"In view of the interest in the retention of major league baseball in Washington which has been expressed by numerous organizations and individuals during the past weeks and the many promises of continued public support which have been made, the board unanimously resolved that the District of Columbia remain the home city of the Washington American League baseball club."

Gabriel Opposed Move

From the first rumors of a possible move, vigorous opposition was expressed by H. Gabriel Murphy, the largest single stockholder. It had appeared, however, that Griffith could swing the other members of the five-man board to his views if he decided to move.

During the luncheon break today, Griffith told reporters he doubted that a "final decision" would be reached today. There was no other word from the board room until a spokesman late this afternoon announced that the team would stay.

Griffith, surrounded by the four other members of the board, talked with reporters after the announcement.

Attendance Is Down

He would not be pinned down to stating what, if anything, he had been promised by Washington interests, other than that they would support the club. Washington, finishing deep in the second division, has had less attendance than any other major league club the last two years.

"Obviously, we just decided that the 'offer' available in Washington was better than any of those submitted by other cities," Griffith said.

A Washington Board of Trade committee, talking with Griffith yesterday, promised to help with ticket sales and to aid the club in other ways.

Griffith also was told then that the committee felt a new stadium would be built here within a few years.

Griffith recalled to the attention of reporters the editorials in Washington newspapers and the expressions of various clubs and organizations in the past few weeks indicating their desire that the club remain here.

Promised Support

A spokesman indicated that the directors had these things in mind in their statement mentioning promises of "continued public support."

"We will stay here the rest of our lives," Griffith said. The Griffith family owns a majority of the ball club stock. Calvin is an adopted son of the late Clark Griffith who headed the ball club for more than 40 years.

Griffith said he thought arrangements could be worked out for better parking facilities and for protection of parked cars.

"The stadium angle is not really a problem," he said. "We like our present stadium."

One Vote Taken

Asked whether the Senators might consider moving again a year from now if attendance did not pick up, Griffith said, no.

Griffith said only one vote was taken during the meeting. He said that was on whether to stay in Washington.

Potomac State And Montgomery Play In Keyser

Potomac State College plays its only non-conference game of the season today when it tackles the gridders of Montgomery Junior College, Takoma Park, Md., today at 2 p. m. on Stayman Field, Keyser.

To date Coach Dana Lough's Catamounts have won four and lost one against West Virginia Intercollegiate Athletic Conference elevens. Last Saturday's 26-20 reverse at the hands of the Shepherd College snapped the Cats' four game victory string.

Montgomery never has beaten Potomac State on the gridiron. The colleges have met five times since 1948 and Potomac has won them all. In fact, Montgomery has scored only one touchdown against the Keyserites and that came in the 1955 game when the Loughmen scored a 33-7 triumph. Other series scores were 26-0 in 1948, 37-0 in 1949, 55-0 in 1950 and 32-0 in 1951.

After the Montgomery contest, Potomac plays Concord, West Virginia Wesleyan and Fairmont State to complete its season.

Jesse Riggleman's Shepherd College eleven (3-2-0) invades Washington today to play the District Teachers.

Giambra Wins Over Turner

Joey Captures Split Decision

NEW YORK, Oct. 19 (AP)—Joey Giambra of Buffalo won a 10-round split decision over Gil Turner of Philadelphia in their nationally televised fight at Madison Square Garden tonight. Giambra weighed 158, Turner 150¾.

Giambra, a 3 to 1 favorite, had to come on with a blazing rally in the final round of the bristling bout to gain the edge. It was the fifth straight victory for the 10th ranking middleweight contender from Buffalo and Turner's fourth successive defeat.

Judge Harold Barnes (5-4-1) and Judge Bill Recht (6-2-2) voted for Giambra while Referee Harry Kessler gave Turner the nod 5-4-1. The Associated Press had Giambra in front, 6-4.

But this was one defeat for which the ever-hustling Philadelphian will not have to apologize. A big underdog and battling to stay on the big time, Gil spotted his taller and harder hitting rival 7¼ pounds and carried the fight to Giambra all the way.

In the end, however, it was the heavier hitting which swung the balance in handsome Joey's favor, especially in the fiery last round.

Both must have been told that the tenth meant the fight and they went at it like alley cats. Giambra connected with at least 20 clean lefts and rights to Turner's jaw and wobbled him, but he couldn't bring him down. He couldn't make the 26-year-old underdog stop coming.

Although he obviously was tired and hurt, Turner kept pressing in the face of one Giambra punch after another.

A poll of the ringside writers showed a 11-0 vote for Giambra.

But Turner made the fight most of the way and it was his hustling that made the fight seem close. Gil had the slow starting Giambra bleeding from the nose in the first round and he looked far from a underdog. He kept moving in and from side to side always hustling and throwing punches.

Colonials Score Over VMI, 40-14

WASHINGTON, Oct. 19 (AP) — George Washington University's Colonials, uncorking scoring punches both in the air and with its running attack, walloped Virginia Military Institute tonight 40-14 in a Southern Conference football game at Griffith Stadium.

The Colonials got an early touchdown in the first period, poured across three scores in the second and two in the third. The last period was all VMI as the Keydets pushed two touchdowns.

Mountaineers Are Four TD Choice

WILLIAMSBURG, Va., Oct. 19 (AP)—West Virginia, a four-touchdown favorite, expects a "breather" in William and Mary tomorrow after football games with Syracuse and Texas.

A near-capacity homecoming crowd is expected to see the Mountaineers and the Indians tangle tomorrow. Tackle Barry Blake and substitute quarterback Alex Szuch will be co-captains for WVU.

West Virginia left Morgantown by bus today for Pittsburgh, from where the squad took a plane to Newport News, Va., then switched to bus again for the trip into Williamsburg.

Dodgers Face Japan All-Star Outfit Today

Brooks Smarting From 5-4 Setback

TOKYO, Oct. 20 (Saturday) (AP)—The Brooklyn Dodgers, losers of the U.S. World Series and their exhibition baseball debut in Japan, were quite ready for a taste of victory Saturday.

"We don't expect to lose any more games. But if we play like we did Friday, I'm sure we will lose some more," said Dodger Captain Pee Wee Reese. Brooklyn was upset 5-4 Friday by the Tokyo Yomiuri Giants in a battle of the World Series losers — America's and Japan's.

Saturday, the Dodgers take on an all-star team from the Central League, strongest of Japan's two major baseball circuits. The Central All-Star include Tetsuji Kawakami and Hawaiian Nisei Andy Miyamoto, who together hit three of four Giant home runs off pitchers Don Bessent and Don Drysdale Friday.

"Our guys have been under quite a strain after hours of traveling, but I don't want to take anything away from the Japanese players," the Dodger shortstop added.

"They play good hard ball and know how the game should be played. Maybe our ball club has taken this problem too lightly . . . We could lose a few more. But we'll try not to, because we remember the New York Yankees didn't lose a single game in Japan last year and we should do as well."

Reese praised two Japanese pitchers, Takumi Otomo and Sho Horiuchi, who struck out 16 Dodgers Friday as having "very good control."

Snavely Proposes Amateur Code

ST. LOUIS, Oct. 19 (AP)—Veteran Coach Carl Snavely said today that colleges are spending enormous amounts of money on football under the false assumption that's necessary for high gate receipts.

"The fact is," Snavely said, "if all colleges adopted an amateur code such as ours at Washington University, public interest in college football would be improved rather than impaired."

The 62-year-old "Gray Fox" is in his fourth season at Washington after 25 years at North Carolina, Cornell and Bucknell.

"If all schools would adopt the same (amateur) system, 99 per cent of the spectators would never notice the change," he declared.

PETERSBURG, W. Va., Oct. 19 — Coach William "Honey" Crites' Petersburg High School Vikings rolled to their third straight victory and tied Moorefield High for the runner-up spot in the Potomac Valley Conference by racking up a 33-12 victory over the Circleville Indians today at Circleville.

The win was the fifth in six outings for the Vikings, the same record as Moorefield which lost a conference game to Keyser today. Petersburg has scored 30 or more points in each of the five games it has won. Today's 33 upped the team's season total to 174.

"Butch" Peck gave PHS a 6-0 lead in the opening period when he snared a 10-yard pass from Dick Huffman and stepped into the end zone.

In the second period Huffman gave the Petersburg followers a thrill when he raced 80 yards for a score. Hank Frye ran over from the five for the third td and Huffman booted two extra points to give the Grant Countians a 20-0 advantage at the halfway mark.

Hank Frye intercepted a pass and covered 55 yards for another score in the third stanza and Huffman converted from placement. In the same period, Joe Harper passed to Ketterman for Circleville's initial touchdown.

After Dick Harper's 7-yard jaunt for a six-pointer gave PHS a 33-6 lead in the final quarter, Charley Teter, Circleville halfback dashed 80 yards for the game's final touchdown.

HAGERSTOWN, Oct. 19—Coach Mel Henry's Hagerstown High School gridders cracked the 14-game winning streak of the Fort Hill Sentinels here tonight, blanking the Cumberland eleven for the first time since 1953 when the same teams fought to a scoreless tie. The score was 20-0.

Fort Hill was limited to one first down and that came on a ground play in the second period. The Sentinels gained only 50 net yards rushing and completed one of three passes for five yards for a total net gain of 55 yards.

Fort Hill had escaped the bristles of the whitewash brush in 26 games since the 0-0 tie with Hagerstown three years ago. The setback was the first of the season for the Hilltoppers in six outings but the loss failed to dislodge the visitors from first place in the Cumberland Valley Athletic League.

Hagerstown scored its first touchdown in the second period when Roger Kisiel carried the ball over from the one-foot line to culminate a 30-yard drive. Don Sharer kicked the extra point.

Later in the same period Hagerstown scored again on a 32-yard gallop by Pat Henry, son of Coach Henry, after the home team had driven from the Fort Hill 48. Sharer's kick for the extra point was good.

In the final period, the Henrymen drove from the Sentinels' 45 for their final six-pointer with Dick Baker going off tackle from the seven. The try for point failed.

Hagerstown's first touchdown drive early in the first quarter was halted when Kesler recovered a Hub fumble on the Fort Hill five and returned to the 47.

A crowd estimated at 4,700 persons witnessed the contest.

The victory was Hagerstown's second against one loss in the C.V.A.L. The Washington countians now have an overall mark of 4-2. Lineups:

MOOREFIELD, Oct. 19 — Keyser High School extended its two-year winning streak to 12 games and also posted its 12th consecutive victory in the Potomac Valley Conference by defeating Moorefield High School's Yellowjackets here today before the season's largest turnout. The score was 14-0.

Coach Fred "Tack" Clark's Golden Tornado notched its 7th straight triumph of the campaign and made it 2-0 in the P.V.C. by handing M.H.S. its first setback of the conference campaign in six starts. It marked the sixth win in a row for the Mineral countians in their series with the Jackets.

The P.V.C. defending champions registered their first touchdown in the second period when "Sandy" Spotts broke loose through left guard and ran straight up the middle for 73 yards for the score. Jim Barr had punted to the KHS 20 and after the Tornado had picked up seven yards in two plays, Spotts took off for paydirt. Nelson Dennis plunged the extra point.

Keyser's second score came in the final period and was set up by a pass play executed by Terry Maine and Dennis, which covered 32 yards and put the ball on the Moorefield seven. Three plays later, Dennis drove over from the three and Gary Burgess converted on a running play.

Moorefield never advanced the ball within Keyser's 19-yard line in the hard-fought battle.

The victory was the second shutout for Keyser in the conference, the Clarkmen having blanked Ridgeley in their first P.V.C. engagement, 20-0.

Wofford Tops Citadel, 23-19

Win In 4th Period On 78-Yard Drive

ORANGEBURG, S.C., Oct. 19 (AP) —Wofford College smashed 78 yards on razzle-dazzle passing in the fourth quarter to pull out a 23-19 football victory over The Citadel before a county fair crowd of 9,000 here today.

Quarterback Charley Bradshaw, prime mover for Wofford all day, smashed the final one foot for the winning points.

The Citadel drew first blood by rolling 82 yards then sending fullback Dave Bochniowich over from the two. Guard Connie Tuza converted.

Wofford moved 55 yards late in the first and early in the second period to tie up the game on halfback Ken Hall's two yard scoring plunge and end Eweyland Burn's conversion.

Wofford took over the lead during the wild second period when Bradshaw broke over right tackle for 39 yards and a touchdown and end Jerry Richardson converted.

Citadel halfback Angelo Coia ran the resulting kick-off 28 yards to his 42, then broke around right end for 58 yards for a touchdown. But Tuza missed the point and The Citadel trailed.

A bad snap from center on a punt try in its end zone cost Wofford the lead when tackle Dick Wilson of The Citadel fell on the loose ball. Again Tuza's conversion was wide.

A fourth period safety and the 78-yard winning touchdown drive gave Wofford victory.

Wofford	0	14	0	9	—23
The Citadel	7	6	6	0	—19

Wofford scoring — Touchdowns: Hall (2, plunge); Bradshaw 2 (39, run; 1 ft., plunge); Safety: Guerirri, Citadel (Deliberate run-out of end zone);. Conversions—Burns, Richardson 2.

Pro Grid Loop Settles Suit For $100,000

Broadcasting Firm Charged Monopoly

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 19 (AP)—A $2,100,000 damage suit brought against the National Football League and its member clubs by the former Liberty Broadcasting System, Inc., of Dallas, Texas, was settled today for $100,000.

Federal Judge Alan K. Grim approved the settlement, thus ending litigation which was started on Oct. 1, 1954.

Under the terms of the settlement, the trustees of the bankrupt Liberty Broadcasting System will receive $60,000 from the league at once and the remaining $40,000 by Jan. 7 of next year.

The suit was started when the Liberty system accused the pro football league of unlawfully preventing the broadcast of its games in the home territories of NFL teams. It was filed by William J. Rochelle Jr., a trustee of the radio system.

Creditors of the Liberty Broadcasting System claimed treble damages, alleging that the company's actual losses were $700,000. The suit was filed under the Sherman Anti-Trust Act, charging that the league and nine member clubs illegally monopolized radio broadcasting of professional football games.

BERKELEY SPRINGS, Oct. 19 —Berkeley Springs High School notched its fourth football victory of the season here today by turning back the Cardinals of Shepherdstown High School to the tune of 32-6.

Coach Jerry Calhoun's Indians scored twice in the opening period, added a third td in the second stanza and registered their fourth and fifth six-pointers in the third quarter.

Floyd Frederick set up the first score with a 22-yard run and went over from six yards out. Gale Smith's kick for the point was wide. The second score came on a 26-yard pass play executed by Smith and Bill Hewitt. Smith booted the point to give the Indians a 13-0 lead.

An interference penalty against Berkeley enabled the Cards to move the ball to the one and Weller went over from there on a quarterback sneak in the second quarter. The kick for point was blocked.

Later in the second quarter Berkeley drove from midfield. Frederick scored from four yards out and Smith converted on a placement kick.

In the last period Dennis McCumbee scored from the six but the placement was blocked. Then Smith passed to "Butch" Burkhart who ran 22 yards for the final touchdown. Smith's placement went wide. Lineups:

Long touchdown runs by George Earnest and Willard Abe in the first period sparked Ridgeley High School's Blackhawks to a surprising 32-14 triumph over the Romney High Pioneers in a Potomac Valley Conference game yesterday at Ridgeley by the score of 32-14.

Ridgeley had lost its previous start to Petersburg by the score of 30-0 and showed a complete reversal of form in pounding out a win over the Hampshide countians. The Hawks shook a 3-game losing streak, made their PVC record 3-3 and their overall mark 4-3 for the current campaign. Romney is 1-2 in the conference and 3-3 for the season.

A 97-yard touchdown sprint by Earnest was the first of five touchdowns scored by Coach Tom O'Connor's eleven. Abe galloped 68 yards for the second td and also scored the third on a 15-yard dash. On another occasion Abe covered 80 yards but the gain was nullified as the result of a clipping penalty.

A 20-yard aerial from Abe to Bill Scott gave Ridgeley its fourth score while Johnny Teter sprinted 20 yards for the final six-pointer. Scott place-kicked one point and Earnest tallied the other on a pass from Abe.

Romney was blanked until the final period when Quarterback Jerry Hannas scored on a two-yard sneak and Gilbert Divens smashed over from the 4-yard mark. Jerry Hannas and Divens made the extra points.

Abe and Earnest were standouts on the offense while Darius Brant played a bangup defensive game for the winners. The lineups:

New York Adopts Simplified Score Card For Boxing

NEW YORK, Oct. 19 (AP)—Effective Nov. 1, boxing officials will use a new, simplified score card in New York state.

Julius Helfand, chairman of the State Athletic Commission, said no erasures will be permitted unless an official immediately calls in the commissioner in charge of the show.

Helfand said there have been cases of changes of the scoring of a round which have determined the outcome.

"We have called in officials to question them about changes and they all have said that the changes were made immediately after an error and not after a fight was over," said Helfand.

"I'm not accusing anyone of skullduggery or anything like that" he added. "But as it was we had no way of knowing when a change was made. Under the new system this can't happen."

Mont's Terps Get Nod Over Tatum's Club

Pupil Faces Teacher In Grid Tilt Today

CHAPEL HILL, N. C., Oct. 19 (AP) — It's teacher Jim Tatum against former pupil Tommy Mont when North Carolina meets Maryland here tomorrow. Whether teacher can still give pupil a lesson in football remains to be seen.

Tatum, who took over the head coaching job at his alma mater in January after eight years of success at Maryland, will match strategy with Mont, who played under Big Jim at Maryland. Tatum handpicked Mont to succeed him as Terp head coach.

Neither team has been a ball of fire this season. The Tar Heels are winless in four starts. Maryland, a pre-season choice to be among the nation's top teams, has won only one in four.

Pupil Given Nod

For this one, the odds makers have given the nod to the pupil by at least a touchdown. But Tatum virtually has promised his alumni a victory. Some 25,000 of them will be on hand for the 2 p. m. (EST) kickoff.

Maryland, injury riddled since the start of the season and obviously short-changed by the loss to the draft board of quarterback Frank Tamburello, edged Wake Forest 6-0 for its only win.

Early this week the Terps were hit by an outbreak of yellow jaundice. The entire squad was inoculated. Mont says the week has been one of turmoil for the whole squad and practice has been hampered.

On the brighter side, however, the week saw the return to action of halfback Jack Healy, who showed well in the Wake Forest game, and quarterback Dickie Lewis. Lewis is no Tamburello, but he has been effective.

Tatum Is Confident

The Tar Heels need a victory to gain the confidence which could savage what up until now has been a dismal season. Tatum, still voicing confidence in his squad, already has met—and lost to—two former assistants, Bud Wilkinson of Oklahoma and Warren Giese of South Carolina.

Tatum is banking on the return to full duty of quarterback Dave Reed to provide the spark. Reed missed all pre-season practice and the first two games on the schedule because of injuries. In his first appearance last week he directed a touchdown march against Georgia.

Key Conference Tilts Mark College Grid Slate Today

Texas Aggies Face TCU; Southern Cal Meets Washington

By HUGH FULLERTON JR.

Although the 1956 football season is young — and showing the unpredictability associated with youth — championships of three major college conferences could be settled today.

The key games are Wyoming vs Utah, Texas Christian vs Texas A. and M. and Oklahoma A. and M. vs Houston.

Wyoming and Utah, each with three victories over Skyline Conference opponents, have shown themselves to be the class of that circuit.

Aggies Battle TCU

Bear Bryant's Texas Aggies, pre-season favorites in the Southwest Conference, make their first league start against Texas Christian, which won its opener from Arkansas two weeks ago. Both are unbeaten so far, though the Aggies were held to a tie by Houston last week.

The Southwest Conference race barely has begun. It's the first league game for Rice and Southern Methodist, who meet each other, and for Texas, facing twice-beaten Arkansas.

Houston, preseason favorite in the Missouri Valley Conference, also meets its first league rival in Oklahoma A&M, which has won one and tied one in conference play. Tulsa, which tied the Aggies, meets Detroit in another valley game.

Big Game On Coast

There's something of a showdown in the Pacific Coast Conference where Washington, tied for the lead, meets unbeaten Southern California. But too many teams are involved in the race for this one to settle things. The same holds true in the Southeastern Conference where four of the leading teams take on major opponents.

In the Southeast, Mississippi and Georgia Tech share the lead and tough Tennessee is close behind. Ole Miss tackles Tulane. Steadily improving Tech plays Auburn and Tennessee meets humbled Alabama. Vanderbilt, still a possible factor, plays Florida and Kentucky faces Louisiana State in other conference games.

Pitt Faces Duke

Other attractive Southern games include Duke vs. Pittsburgh at Norfolk, Va., North Carolina-Maryland, Florida State-Wake Forest and William and Mary-West Virginia.

Oklahoma and Michigan State, two top-rated national powers aren't looking for too much trouble against Kansas and Notre Dame, respectively.

The Big Ten race remains more-or-less static in spite of three games — Michigan-Northwestern, Minnesota-Illinois and Wisconsin-Purdue. Contender Ohio State goes outside the circuit to play Penn State, Iowa meets Hawaii and Indiana visits Nebraska.

Top Eastern attractions are Syracuse - Army, Princeton - Colgate, Navy-Cincinnati, Yale-Cornell, Pennsylvania-Brown and Columbia-Harvard.

Sports Grill

By PAT ROBINSON

NEW YORK, Oct. 19—(INS)—The Broadway bookies have made Michigan State a 14-point favorite over Notre Dame, and western friends assure us these odds are fully justified.

It has been years since Notre Dame was such an underdog against any team. The answer, we've been told, lies in an inexperienced line. But such lines sometimes jell in a hurry, and Michigan State could be in for a rude awakening tomorrow.

Unbeaten Ohio State is a solid favorite to beat Penn State, but the Nittany Lions won't be too easy to handle. True, Penn State bowed to Army, 14-7, but it should have beaten Army that day. Since then the Pennsylvanians have made amends by trouncing a heavy Holy Cross team, 43-0.

Oklahoma, still ranked No. 1 among the country's major teams, has a soft touch coming up against Kansas, and we won't have a good line on the Sooners until they meet Notre Dame a week hence.

Meanwhile, Kansas hardly can give Oklahoma even a good stiff work-out. In four games Texas Christian, College of the Pacific, Colorado and Iowa State have rolled up a total of 99 points against the Jayhawks.

In three games Oklahoma has rolled up 147 points against North Carolina, Kansas State and Texas and is still unscored on. So it is evident that Kansas and the Sooners don't belong on the same gridiron, although both are members of the same conference, the Big Seven.

Unbeaten Texas Christian which ran up 96 points against Kansas, Arkansas and Alabama, will have its hands full against the Texas Aggies. Georgia Tech should not have too much trouble keeping its slate untarnished against Auburn, and Tennessee should win under wraps over Alabama.

One of the most interesting games finds Mississippi pitted against rugged Tulane. At a world series fanning bee, some of the southern boys told us Mississippi had the fastest team they had ever seen.

In its last two starts Tulane walloped Northwestern, 20-13, and Navy, 21-6, which indicates it is strong enough to supply a real test.

On the West Coast, Washington looks strong enough to threaten Southern California's unbeaten status.

In the East, we have two unbeaten major teams in the Ivy League, Princeton and Yale. Princeton wasn't pressed at all while rolling up 101 points against Rutgers, Columbia and Penn and, while Colgate may be tougher tomorrow, the Tigers should win again.

Yale, too, should take a Cornell team which has a squad of fleet backs behind a weak line.

We filmly believe that a good cleansing with soap and water is good for all types of skin, dry or oily, or a combination of both.

Secrets Of Charm

by John Robert Powers

Soap-and-Water Addicts

Travelers on their first European trip are often surprised to find that soap is not provided in most hotels. It never has been. Travel experts always advise that you pack several bars of soap and a plastic container for the bar currently in use.

Even handier is a pocket-sized metal tube that contains a new liquid soap. Available at cosmetic counters everywhere, it makes a thoughtful bon voyage gift. Businessmen and motorists who travel like it, as do careerists who always keep a personal soap handy in a desk drawer for daytime clean-up sessions.

The liquid soap is lanolin-enriched, and has a clean fragrance designed to appeal to both men and women. It's most soothing to the skin, and only a tiny quantity of the liquid is necessary for it lathers luxuriantly — even in cold, hard water.

All types of skin improve with proper cleansing. A dry skin should be washed once a day only, using a lanolin-based or super-fatted soap. An oily skin responds best if you cleanse at least three times a day with tepid water and soap, working up a good lather. Apply it to the face and with fingertips or a clean complexion brush, gently massage the skin. Rinse well and pat dry.

If you have normal skin, gently wash the face upon arising and again at bedtime (rinse and pat dry). For those who have a dual problem — a combination of dry and oily areas—each condition must be treated separately. If you're a soap-and-water girl, lather the oily sections three times daily. Then the remainder of the face should be washed only once a day preferably before retiring.

Dairy Members Win Awards

The two supervisors for the Potomac Valley Dairy Herd Improvement Association have won first and second prizes in a state-wide contest among dairy herd group supervisors.

They are Harry E. Miller and Wheeler W. Arnold. Cash prizes and a plaque were presented the men by J. R. Schabinger, extension dairyman from the University of Maryland, at the annual report meeting of the Potomac Valley unit last week.

Officers of the association were re-elected, and James Weimer was elected a director to represent the county group in the state association of DHIA units.

Other officers are John T. Mason, president; Harry E. Miller, secretary-treasurer; Lloyd Nave, Charles Brinker and J. G. Shumaker, directors, and Joseph M. Steger, county farm agent, who works with the group.

The report of the two supervisors reveals a greater average production of milk and butterfat by cows registered with the association during year ending July, 1956 than for the previous year.

Average pounds of milk produced was 8,135 as compared to 7,721 in 1955, while butterfat production went from 311.3 pounds in 1955 to 332.6 pounds ending in July of this year.

Several hundred cows registered with the association produced more than 400 pounds of butterfat during the one-year period ending in July of 1956. Most of the cows were bred through artificial insemination, a program started here several years ago to improve the herds.

Keeping Up With Hollywood

by Louella Parsons

HOLLYWOOD, Oct. 19 (INS)—Two hundred and fifty thousand dollars paid out for a galley proof is a lot of money, but Harry Cohn was so sold on the novel "The Last Angry Man," by Gerald Green, that he bought it without even questioning the amount of money. Scribner's is bringing it out later, and no other studio had as much as a look in. It's slated by the Book of the Month Club for February.

Marlon Brando, who won his academy award for "On The Waterfront," released by Columbia, is a strong possibility for the lead in the role of an immigrant doctor who fights juvenile delinquency. Fred Kohlmar has been named as producer.

The very young Francoise Sagan, who authored "Bonjour Tristesse" and "A Certain Smile" will be in Hollywood in a few months. She is coming here to try and find material for a book about Hollywood from a Parisienne's viewpoint.

A lot has been written about our town, but she may have a fresh approach and a new angle. Let's hope she doesn't listen to the wrong people.

While Mrs. Brod Crawford has been in the hospital, Brod has remained on at the family home with the children. He went there when he was so very ill.

This led everyone to hope that the Crawfords would bury the hatchet and reconcile, but Brod is moving back into his apartment as soon as Kay is well.

Brod is stepping up his career activities by taking an option on a story titled "The Tracer," which he will make independently, with himself in the lead. The story deals with tracing heirs to forgotten fortunes and is based on a series which ran in our Los Angeles Examiner a year ago and was responsible for $300,000 being returned to the rightful owners.

Kay and Clark Gable sat right in front of me at the premiere of "Giant" and Clark whispered to me that he had a pocket full of pills for Kay. "Do you carry those things when you go out?" he asked me.

I thought Kay looked wonderful — so beautiful all in white with her emeralds. She is her old gay self again. Clark waited until she was well enough to see "A King And Four Queens" and they saw it together a week ago. While Kay will take it easier, she is now starting to go out a little more and more.

Arthur Loew, Jr.'s visit to Joan Collins on the Grenada location of "Island In The Sun" has been postponed until November, when the company moves to the Barbados.

I asked Joan if she is going to marry Arthur and she said, "I am not free yet, nor do I contemplate marriage to anyone in the next few years. I am going to concentrate on my career. Marriage is a serious step. I want to take it seriously. I made one mistake and I want to avoid another."

I have heard all these arguments before from a zillion personalities, so I would like to make a bet that Joan will be Mrs. Arthur Loew, Jr., before many moons.

Snapshots of Hollywood collected at random: five of the ten pounds Tony Perkins lost during his illness' are back, but Tony is still eating like mad. What a pleasant prescription!

Jackie Gleason could rock'n' roll himself upstairs and down. He once had an option on Elvis Presley's services which he allowed to lapse.

Sarah Churchill, Winston's daughter, opens at the Pasadena playhouse November 15 for a minimum run of four weeks in "Tonight In Samarkand," the London play.

La Rue was really buzzing with celebrities eating dinner before the "Giant" premiere. Henry Fonda plus a party was dining with the Jimmy Stewarts.

Mike Todd has taken a lease on a Hollywood house for eight months. Must be he plans to spend his time here.

That's all today. See you tomorrow.

Board Adopts Resolution On Welfare Requirements

A resolution was unanimously adopted yesterday by the Allegany County Board of Commissioners calling for liberalization of the income scale used by the Welfare Boards in Maryland in determining the ability of families to pay support when the dependents obtain public welfare.

The resolution pointed out that the State Department of Public Welfare heretofore has established by regulation, certain income scales for guidance of local Welfare Boards of the state in determining the ability to support dependents.

The county commissioners have been advised and are of the opinion that the income scales now in effect, in the light of present day economic conditions, are inadequate. With respect to attempted criminal prosecutions in Allegany County for failure to support and in connection with uniform support proceedings in other jurisdictions, the scales are so low that the board said they are practically unenforceable.

The commissioners believe the income scales formulated by the State Department of Public Welfare should be revised so as to provide realistic and enforceable standards.

The commissioners stated they propose and recommend for adoption by the state welfare agency an income scale to be used in determining primary responsibility of a parent for support of a child or children and the secondary responsibility of adult children for the support of a parent or parents.

Copies of the resolution are being mailed to the state welfare agency, the County Welfare Board, and the various labor organizations of the county.

Constable Named Auditor By B&O

Fred W. Constable, 112 North Allegany Street, has been promoted to traveling auditor with the B&O Railroad.

He had been working at the ticket office at Queen City Station. Constable, a graduate of Fort Hill High School, has been employed by the railroad for about 10 years.

The first plank road in the United States was built in 1846 in New York.

Trinity Church Plans Mission

The annual Mission Festival of Trinity Evangelical Lutheran Church will be observed tomorrow, according to Rev. G. A. Wagner, pastor, who said the speaker will be Rev. J. Lloyd Dreith, Navy chaplain.

Rev. Dreith, the senior Navy chaplain of the Lutheran Church-Missouri Synod, is assistant to the chief of chaplains, U. S. Navy for plans and policies. He has served continuously in the Navy since 1937 and seen duty in the Philippines, China, Puerto Rico and various bases throughout the states.

During World War II, Rev. Dreith was stationed aboard the carrier USS Bunker Hill and he has also served aboard the USS Arizona, USS Pensacola and USS Black Hawk.

The Mission Festival, according to Rev. Wagner, is an annual observance to give attention to the worldwide mission program of the Lutheran Church-Missouri Synod.

The Trinity congregation, the pastor explained, is voluntarily increasing its annual contribution to the mission program this year in order to help meet a budget of synod which was increased approximately 46 per cent this year. The increase, Rev. Wagner noted, was necessary to help cover the cost of expansion of the colleges and seminaries supported by the synod.

Officers Elected By Jr. Optimists

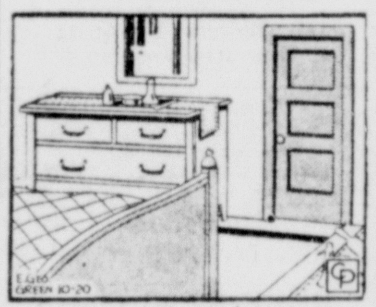
George Strachan was elected president of the Cumberland Junior Optimist Club at a meeting this week at Central YMCA.

Other new officers are Dale Middleton, vice president; Robert Fogtman, secretary; David Strachan, treasurer, and John Morris, sergeant-at-arms.

L. R. Dehn, "Y" program secretary, conducted the election.

James O. Spitznogle outlined plans for a rifle club and distributed booklets containing regulations.

WIFE PRESERVERS



Furniture in a bedroom should be arranged so as to leave a clear path from bed to doorway to prevent the danger of bumping into chairs or tables or tripping over them.

DAILY CRYPTOQUOTE — Here's how to work it:
A X Y D L B A A X R
is L O N G F E L L O W

One letter simply stands for another. In this example A is used for the three L's, X for the two O's, etc. Single letters, apostrophes, the length and formation of the words are all hints. Each day the code letters are different.

Cards of Thanks

We wish to thank our neighbors and friends for the kindness during our recent bereavement, the death of our beloved mother, Annie Hill Guthrie, Bayard, W. Va. We also wish to thank those who donated the use of cars for the funeral, those who sent floral tributes. All expressions of sympathy have been deeply appreciated.

In loving remembrance of our dear husband and daddy, William H. Green, who was killed four years ago today, October 20, 1952.

Loving thoughts of one so dear

Not just today—but always will.
Beautiful memories, cherished forever,
Of those happy days we spent together.

NEW YORK, Oct. 19 (AP)—A rally by steels and rails faltered on profit-taking but the stock market still remained narrowly ahead on average today.

By the close, it was chiefly due to stubborn holding of gains by the carriers that the market kept an edge to the upside.

The day's turnover was the best of the week with volume at 1,720,000 shares compared with 1,640,000 yesterday.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks was ahead 30 cents at $179.70.

The most active stock was New York Central, up ⅝ at 40½ on 37,900 shares. Second was Texas Gulf Sulphur, off 1¼ at 30 on 30,800 shares. Third was Studebaker-Packard, off ¼ at 5¼.

Next came Bethlehem Steel, up ⅝ at 168⅝, and U.S. Steel off ½ at 68⅜.

Rails went ahead as their freight carloadings continued to surpass the 1955 totals and the earnings outlook appeared bright despite the fall-off in passenger traffic.

The day's favorite, New York Central, is among the carriers about which there have been Wall Street rumors of better things in the way of dividends.

The steels, although their third quarter earnings are off from a year ago due to the strike, have prospects for an excellent fourth quarter and investors responded to this.

Youngstown Sheet & Tube's early gain of a point or so was sliced down to ¼ by the close. Republic Steel was unchanged.

Pivotal rails which remained ahead included Illinois Central ¾, Chesapeake & Ohio ⅞, Pennsylvania ⅜ and Southern Railway ¼.

Long Bell Lumber dropped 4 and International Paper 1¾ as their proposed merger remained in abeyance.

Fractional losses were taken by General Motors, Chrysler and Ford.

Douglas and United Aircraft were ahead slightly but Boeing dropped ½. Goodyear gained ⅞ while U.S. Rubber lost the same fraction.

Anaconda eased ⅜. Kennecott Copper and American Smelting were unchanged. Texaco and Standard Oil (New Jersey) improved slightly. U.S. Gypsum picked up 1⅞.

Vandals Damage West Side Home

City Police yesterday received a complaint that vandals Thursday broke out several windows of a home being constructed on Mt. Royal Avenue.

Police said a representative of the Growden Construction Company, contractors for the house, said one large picture window and three small windows were smashed by rocks.

The one-story ranch style home is being built for James Schrock.

The term "hiding power" — used in connection with paint — refers to the capacity of a paint to conceal the surface that lies beneath it.

Victory Seen As Chest Drive Hits $131,923

Final Report Event Set Next Thursday

The Cumberland Community Chest Campaign reached the $131,923.45 mark yesterday and Lewis J. Ort, general chairman, told the Red Feather workers they have six more days to raise the $5,363.23 more needed for victory.

Hard working Chest fund drive workers, gathered at Central YMCA for their third report meeting, reported unaudited contributions of $11,849.23 collected since Tuesday.

Included were pledges totaling $1,241.93 collected by women of the Residential Division, $1,696 brought in by Sales Army workers and $8,911 solicited by members of the Classified Division.

Ort told the fund drive workers that, according to the policy set for the campaign, the reports were complete and "not a penny held back."

96 Per Cent In

It is each worker's responsibility, he said, to work hard for the additional money needed for victory.

"It is equally important," he added, that the last five per cent of Cumberland's citizens be given the opportunity to share in the victory as it was for the first 95 per cent."

As of yesterday, 96 per cent of the $137,286 goal had been reached in contributions from 11,183 friends of Cumberland's Red Feather agencies.

High point of yesterday's meeting was a victory report from the local office of C&P Telephone Company of Maryland.

John Means, chairman, said telephone workers contributed $1,682.05, or 266 per cent of the $484 given last year.

The heartening report, Means said, resulted from contributions made by 96 per cent of the telephone workers here.

Plan Victory Event

During the session, Classified Division workers reported that 23 more firms have earned gold stars for meeting or exceeding their goals.

Sales Army leaders jubilantly reported that 66 firms in that division have turned in victory reports.

Victory, which has been in the air since the general campaign opened with more than $100,000 pledged, was enough of a certainty yesterday to justify plans for a victory dinner.

The Victory Report meeting will be held next Thursday at 6:15 p. m. in Ali Ghan Shrine Country Club.

"Oscars" will be presented to all captains, zone leaders and majors reaching goals.

Youth To Face Rape Charge

A 19-year-old local youth being held in County Jail will be charged with rape involving a 13-year-old girl, according to State's Attorney Paul M. Fletcher.

He was identified as Robert Dale Bennett, 19, of 324 Bedford Street by Edwin R. Lilya, county investigator, who said a hearing is planned the first of next week for the purpose of setting bond.

Lilya said the minor girl claims the youth forced his attentions on her at his home Sunday night.

Investigation of the circumstances surrounding the case are still being investigated, Lilya said.

The local youth was arrested earlier this week by Officer George Furstenburg and Detective Joseph H. Stitcher, and a warrant charging rape was issued by Magistrate J. Milton Dick Thursday.

Tulips Are Planted In City Park Areas

City workers have planted more than 3,000 tulips in city park areas, according to Mrs. Marguerite Findlay, park board member.

She said the last of the tulips were set this week and that the collection included many desirable varieties.

The cakes will be sold by Civitans and members of the auxiliary to help finance such club projects as tonsillectomies for needy children.

Fort Hill High 'POD' Class Aids In Registering Voters

As a project in good citizenship, the senior class in problems of democracy at Fort Hill High School, under the guidance of the instructor, Robert Morris, has launched a program of urging people to register to vote this year.

The class is officially credited with 35 registrations, all of which were certified by election officials.

Morris said the students had prepared forms showing the name of the student and the person he encouraged to register to vote. These forms were presented to the registrar at the Court House, who made the certification.

A total of 35 were returned and there were several others who registered as a result of the student interest.

In many families it was discovered that only one parent was registered. Upon suggestion from a student, the other parent registered. In families where both parents were registered, the student urged some other adult in the family or some neighbor or friend to qualify and exercise the right to vote.

Morris said there was no emphasis on party affiliation, as the project for the students was to learn the importance of voting in all elections and the necessity for registration before voting is permitted.

Morris said it proved a practical and realistic approach to the democracy problem, and all students took great pride and interest in the project.

Bro. Nicholas To Head City Stamp Club

Brother Nicholas of LaSalle High School has been elected president of the Fort Cumberland Philatelic Society.

Other officers of the club sponsored by the City Recreation Department are Paul Weisenmiller, vice president; Leonard Schwab, secretary and treasurer, and Paul Morrin and James Tole, directors.

The new officers will take office at the November 13 meeting of the stamp club.

The next meeting will be held Tuesday at 7:30 p. m. in City Hall, with Schwab presiding.

The club will present a special stamp exhibit to mark United Nations Day on October 24.

Mrs. Eva Hogan, assistant rec director, said the department has secured frames which will be used to display stamp collections prepared by the club.

Brother Nicholas has been named chairman of the group which will prepare the exhibit.

Another feature of Tuesday's meeting will be a stamp auction, with Martha Tole as manager. Stamps will be swapped on the basis of catalogue values.

Valley Street Sewer Problem Licked

Street Department workers this week were putting the finishing touches on the job relocating the Valley Street sewer line, according to Commissioner William H. Buchholtz.

He said the crews have dug up and laid the sewer line on a new grade about three-fourths of the distance between Centre and Mechanic streets.

The job was completed early this week, except for the construction of a new manhole and paving the torn-up area.

The line was laid during the construction of the Valley Street flood conduit but began to give trouble last year, when repair work started.

The task was resumed this summer after the department purchased a clam bucket and boom.

Missing Area Youngsters All Accounted For

Eight area youngsters between the ages of 12 and 17 apparently were observing "Leave Home Week" during the past seven days, causing local authorities considerable trouble in locating them.

Police pointed out yesterday that the missing persons were either at home or accounted for. It might have been the Indian summer which was the cause of their turning up missing.

A 12-year-old local boy, missing from his home, traveled to Baltimore, according to his mother, while a 16-year-old Wiley Ford boy left home and went to Sun Flower, Kan., to visit relatives.

A 15-year-old boy and a friend 12 years old left their homes this week and were located in Washington, D.C., according to police.

Two girls, 14 and 16, of Woodlawn, LaVale, also have returned home.

Marine Reserve Company Planning 'Satellite' Unit

The formation of a "satellite unit" of the Sixth Special Infantry Company, USMCR, located here is being planned at Frederick.

Captain Henry W. Tubbs Jr., inspector-instructor of the local unit, was in Frederick yesterday conferring with George W. Bell, a member of the inactive reserve, who will command the platoon-size unit.

The activation date has been set for November 7 at Camp Detrick, where the unit will use the facilities of the Army for drilling.

Permission was granted by the Marine Corps Headquarters in Washington for the formation of the unit. The Army has given permission to use the Camp Detrick facilities.

Captain Tubbs, who plans to attend the activation program with Major Patsy Algieri, commanding officer of the local unit, said interest in forming a satellite unit at Frederick had been expressed for some time.

The local unit will be the headquarters for the new platoon and will take care of the administrative work. The platoon commander will have the rank of captain and it is expected some 50 initial members will comprise the unit.

The Frederick area includes Hagerstown, Hancock and Thurmont, Md., and Martinsburg, W. Va.

Thruway Test Boring Bids Due Tuesday

The Maryland State Roads Commission will open bids for test borings and subsurface exploration for the Cumberland Thruway in Baltimore Tuesday at noon.

The time for the opening of bids, originally scheduled this Tuesday, was extended a week under an SRC addendum to the original request for bids, according to G. Bates Chaires, district SRC engineer.

The contract will call for the testing of the subsurface for the portion of the Thruway from Baltimore Pike to Johnson Street, including approaches.

Copies of the plans for the exploratory work have been received by the City of Cumberland, according to Mayor Roy W. Eves.

He said the drawings are being studied by C. R. Nuzum, city engineer.

Most of the test borings will be on areas where piers and abutments for the structure will be located.

Study Groups Will Report

Two study committees on which county legislators are serving will present their reports to the Legislative Council of the General Assembly November 9.

State Senator Charles M. See yesterday said the committee on the training of pre-school handicapped children completed its deliberations Wednesday.

He said the committee headed by Senator Philip Goodman (Baltimore 5th) is preparing recommendations for a definite program.

Delegate Noel Speir Cook reported that the committee studying revision of Maryland's election laws also completed its work Wednesday.

He said the committee headed by Senator H. Winship Wheatley Jr. (Prince Georges County) expects to report on or about November 9.

Senator See and Delegate Cook attended every meeting held by the committees in spite of the fact they had the longest distance to travel.

Delegate Fred B. Driscoll announced Thursday the committee on which he served will present its recommendations on traffic law revision at the same time.

HAGERSTOWN, Oct. 19 (AP) — Herman L. Mills said today he would appeal a circuit court decision which in effect deprives him of using 80 acres of land in north Hagerstown for a shopping center.

Mills is a former mayor of Hagerstown.

Seven Appeals Cases Heard In Court Here

Suspended Terms Given Defendants

Criminal appeals involving seven defendants were heard yesterday by Associate Judge Morgan C. Harris in Allegany County Circuit Court.

Dewey Mort, 225 Offutt Street, was given a suspended sentence by Judge Harris after he pleaded guilty to non-support and violation of his parole.

He stipulated that the suspension was granted on condition Mort take care of his family, refrain from the use of intoxicating beverages, keep the peace, return his wife's personal property to her and place himself under the supervision of John Jeffries, juvenile Court probation officer.

Mort had appealed a decision of Magistrate Morris Baron in Juvenile Court, who had sentenced him to one year in the Maryland House of Correction.

Pleads Guilty

Harry Reger, this city, received a six-month suspended sentence in the Maryland House of Correction after having pleaded guilty to being a habitual drunkard, and to violation of parole. The suspension is conditioned upon Reger's keeping the peace and refraining from use of intoxicating beverages. Trial Magistrate Donald W. Mason previously had sentenced him to six months in the Maryland House of Correction.

Wilson H. McLeod, Duluth, Minn., who also had been sentenced to six months in the House of Correction by Magistrate Mason on a charge of being a habitual drunkard, also received a six-month suspended term from Judge Harris. The suspension was granted on condition that McLeod leave town and never return.

A one-year suspended sentence in the House of Correction was received by Raymond Montgomery of Barton, who pleaded guilty to non-support of his wife and minor children. The sentence was conditioned on his prompt arrangement to undergo a needed operation and remain under supervision of Jeffries. Magistrate Baron in the lower court had sentenced Montgomery to one year in the House of Correction.

Loses Appeal

Harvey Clyde Linn, 29, city, lost his appeal from a reckless driving conviction in Trial Magistrates Court. He had been involved in a collision with a car at the intersection of Virginia Avenue and First Street last April 28 shortly after midnight.

Linn testified that a car operated by a woman was traveling just ahead of him on Virginia Avenue and that one of her rear lights flashed on and off like a turn signal and he thought she was turning right. Instead she turned left and his car struck her machine. Judge Harris said passing another car in an intersection was illegal and that in his opinion it was reckless driving.

Stelman Ray Flannigan, Homewood Addition, withdrew his plea of not guilty to driving under the influence of intoxicants and reckless driving. Judge Harris reimposed the fines which had been assessed in lower court. They were $125 for driving under the influence and $25 for reckless driving.

A six-month sentence imposed on Stanley Lee Donahoe in Juvenile Court on a charge of violation of a non-support order was suspended by Judge Harris. Indications were that the matter would be handled through an equity action before the court.

McKeldin Speaks For Ike, Butler; Mahoney Blasts 'Tight Money' And Prices

Senate Aspirant Says He 'Agrees' With Humphrey

BALTIMORE, Oct. 19 (AP) — George P. Mahoney, Democratic candidate for U.S. Senator, "agreed" today with a Republican cabinet officer.

George Humphrey, Secretary of the Treasury, said last night at a GOP dinner that Mahoney "seemed to want to return to the old, familiar road of inflation."

"I agree with him that this is, indeed, a familiar road," replied Mahoney. "We have been traveling it pretty hard in the last 3½ years."

More For Pork Chops

Mahoney has criticized what he calls the "tight money" policy of the Republican administration.

In his rebuttal to Humphrey, he said:

"Since Humphrey took office in 1953, the price of pork chops in Baltimore rose about 20 per cent and the price of lard rose 26 per cent, while the price paid Maryland farmers for hogs dropped at least 12 per cent.

"Prices of a dozen staple commodities purchased in Baltimore food stores rose an average of nearly 20 per cent between the date Humphrey took office and the end of August 1956.

"That's the road we've been traveling.

Housing Costly

"In 1952, according to the Federal Housing Administration, the average two-bedroom house under FHA mortgage could be bought for $59.60 a month over a period of just under 22 years. The same house now requires payments of $69.25 per month for nearly 26 years.

"That is how successful itght money policies have been in curbing housing costs. Much of this increase can be traced directly to the Republicans' increase of VA and FHA interest rates.

"They have not curbed inflation. They have spurred inflation."

Demos 'Trumpeters Of Terror,' Says Md. Governor

TIMONIUM, Md., Oct. 19 (AP)—Gov. McKeldin called tonight for a "resounding delivery" of Maryland's electoral votes next month for President Eisenhower and Vice President Nixon.

"More than ever before in our history," the governor told a Republican rally featuring Nixon at the state fair grounds, "this election will be watched with keen interest by the people of the world.

"The fair, wise, sound and effective policies of Dwight Eisenhower for peace in the world and the progress of human dignity are the big issues at stake.

"We are confident of their approval, but the more emphatic that approval is on election day, the greater will be the effectiveness of our place in the world..."

Gov. McKeldin expressed confidence that "Maryland will be well in the vanguard of the vote of victory for Eisenhower and Nixon on the sixth day of next month."

Four years ago, Eisenhower polled 499,424 votes to 395,337 for Adlai Stevenson in Maryland.

Gov. McKeldin was in customary phrase-throwing style at Democrats.

"Adlai The Addled"

He called the top Democratic candidates "Adlai the Addled and Estes the Erratic...those two trumpeters of terror...two wandering minstrels of malediction and misrepresentation..."

The election of Stevenson and Estes Kefauver, his vice presidential running mate, "would form the very nucleus of a divided and uncertain administration," McKeldin said.

"Theirs are the ways of vagueness and vacillation—the ways of conflict, confusion and caprice—the ways that marked the 20 long years of international bungling and domestic bickering, of unbalanced budgets and flagrant favoritism."

Gov. McKeldin also introduced two Republican members of Congress seeking re-election, Rep. Devereux of the Second District and Sen. Butler, as "distinguished" members of the Eisenhower team.

Sen. Butler cited sympathetic Republican administraion help in "matters affecting the free state."

Among them were Friendship Airport, tobacco farmers location of federal buildings and of the Civil Defense Administration.

Butler said "we defeated the airline lobby attempts to have a new national air terminal built at Burke, Va.," and instead obtained a recommendation that Friendship Airport be made a co-terminal with Washington.

The Airport Battle

"This fight has nearly been won," he said. "With the help of Commerce Secretary Weeks, I confidently expect that it will be won next year.

"Friendship International Airport will become the permanently designated co-terminal in the National Capital area and the spoiled airlines will have to accept this fact—like it or not."

Butler said "disaster assistance was promptly forthcoming" to Maryland tobacco growers facing "financial disaster" because of hurricanes. In addition, he said they would benefit from the soil bank program.

Butler said that either Prince Georges or Montgomery County will benefit from plans to replace "old temporary government buildings in Washington" by relocating them in Maryland.

He reported that discussions lead him to believe that efforts to bring back to Maryland an agency of the Civil Defense Administration will be successful. It was moved to Battle Creek, Mich.

Age Saves Boy From Trip To State Prison

A 17-year-old Vocke Road youth was found guilty in Juvenile Court yesterday after he was accused of attempting to force his attentions upon a married woman of the same age.

Magistrate Morris Baron said the youth was placed on probation for two years, saying he felt the boy was too young to be imprisoned with seasoned criminals at the House of Correction and too old to be sent to the Maryland Training School.

He ordered the youth to get a job within 30 days and to report to the probation officer every two weeks.

The magistrate said the youth went to the woman's house on October 12 under pretense he was looking for her brother.

He said the youth, who had been hunting, threatened the woman with a shotgun but gave up the attempt and ran after she began to scream.

Sgt. William F. Baker investigated.

Tarzan Is Most Popular Fictional Hero, Untermeyer Tells Maryland Teachers

BALTIMORE, Oct. 19 (AP)—Louis Untermeyer, critic, editor and anthologist, told Maryland school teachers today the most popular, most sought after fictional character of the time is "Tarzan."

Untermeyer spoke on American reading habits at a session of the Maryland State Teachers Assn.'s annual convention.

He said the reason for the popularity of Edgar Rice Burroughs' tree-swinging ape man is that he satisfies a "wish for romantic fulfillment."

While most Tarzan readers are "young women and women not so young," Untermeyer said the African muscle-man has a vast public among men.

Untermeyer said some of the realistic books of a few years ago could be "pretty offensive," like "Tobacco Road" and "Grapes of Wrath." But he said their authors were not suggesting that America was like this. "They were diagnosticians, finding the sore, source of infection in the great healthy body of America."

Today, he believes the trend is toward neither extreme and "authors are approximateing realistic romance or romantic reality."

As for the future of reading, Untermeyer said it could die out entirely, its functions being performed by television, or it could expand to an unprecedented extent through the medium of paper-back books.

In 1939, when paper backs first appeared, Untermeyer said 50 titles were available and less than 2 million copies were sold. Last year, he added, 1,810 titles were available and sales numbered 310 million.

Of these, he said about 200 million were "trash" but the remainder represented a select list of serious books from Aristotle to our own time.

"It may be that we are on the threshold of our great American renaissance, our golden age," Untermeyer added.

Friedel Offers His Assistance In Road Fight

U.S. Officials Also Send Letters

A fifth Maryland Congressman yesterday sent a letter to William H. Lemmert, president of the Allegany County Board of Commissioners, promising to do what he could to get that portion of U.S. Route 40 between Hancock and Washington, Pa., included in the Federal Interstate Highway System.

He is Rep. Samuel N. Friedel, Democrat from Baltimore City. Previously both U. S. Senators J. Glenn Beall and John Marshall Butler, and Reps. DeWitt S. Hyde, George H. Fallon, Edward A. Garmatz and Richard E. Lankford had written the county commissioners after having received copies of a resolution adopted on the subject September 21 by the county commissioners.

Only Rep. Edward T. Miller (R-First District), and Rep. James P. S. Devereux (R-Second) have not yet answered the commissioners' resolution.

Letter From Official

Coupled with Rep. Friedel's letter was a copy of one he had received from C. D. Curtiss, commissioner of the U. S. Bureau of Public Roads, explaining the situation. An almost identical letter was sent directly to Lemmert by A. C. Clark, deputy commissioner of the U. S. Bureau of Public Roads.

Both cited the widely-known fact that the 40,000 miles in the Federal Interstate Highway System authorized by the Federal Aid Highway Act of 1944 already have been selected. The Federal Aid Highway Act of 1956 added another 1,000 miles to the system.

The Maryland State Roads Commission has asked that its portion of U.S. Route 40 between Hancock and the Pennsylvania state line be included. However, the Pennsylvania Department of Highways has made no such petition for the portion of U.S. Route 40 from the Mason-Dixon Line to Washington, Pa.

Eligible For Primary Aid

Both letters from Curtiss and Clark make a point that has been somewhat obscured in the discussion of the apparent bypass of this section of U. S. Route 40.

The segment of U.S. Route 40 between Hancock and Washington, Pa., has been otherwise recognized by inclusion in the Federal-aid primary highway system and hence is eligible for improvement with federal-aid primary funds and matching state funds under state contract.

The big difference between the two systems is that the Federal government provides 90 per cent of the funds in the Federal Interstate Highway System and only 50 per cent in the Federal-aid primary highway system.

As a consequence, state money goes five times as far in the former system.

Three Convicts Break Jail

JESSUP Oct. 19 (AP) — Three convicts escaped from the Maryland House of Correction tonight after cutting a bar of a third floor window and letting themselves to the ground with a fire hose.

The men, identified as Emmett E. Walker, 34, of Baltimore; Leroy Files, 29, of 26 East Washington St. Hagerstown, and Melvin E. Deshong, 24, of Greencastle, Pa., were missing at the 7 p.m. check.

Warden William F. Steiner said the three were assigned to a cleaning detail in the hospital building and possibly had worked several days to cut the bars. He didn't know what had been used on the bars. The fire hose by which the men slid to the ground was part of the institution's regular equipment.

Walker was serving 24 months for breaking and entering, larceny and receiving stolen goods and was sentenced July 17 from Howard County.

Deshong was sentenced to three years for forgery from Washington County Circuit Court on Aug. 14, 1954. Files was in for one year on violation of probation and non-support. He was sentenced Aug. 7 in Washington County.

Warden Steiner said Files could be identified by his tattoos, a heart with a skull and dagger design on his left forearm, a semi-nude with the word "Betty" and the letters "USN" on his right forearm and the words "True Love" spelled out on the fingers of both hands.
